Successful Shot Puts U.S. Back Into Space Race

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States' first space man, Alan B. Shepard Jr., rocketed briefly across the threshold of space today and landed safely after a 5,100 mile-an-hour journey that carried him 115 miles high and 302 miles down range.

The pickup occurred at 10:53 a.m. (EDT), 19 minutes after the Redstone booster rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral at 10:34 a. m.

The flight reached an altitude of about 115 miles and lasted 15 minutes.

The 37-year-old Navy commander's good condition was evident throughout the flight when Shepard reported such things as:

"What a beautiful sight!" in describing the earth below.

He radioed back that he could see the outline of the entire East Coast of the United States.

Throughout the rest of the journey, he said everything was "OK."

Ships, planes and helicopters raced to attempt recovery of the astronaut when his cabin plopped into the water.

Shepard immediately was transferred to the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain, flagship of a seven-vessel recovery fleet.

Crewmen of the Lake Champlain were told not to speak to the astronaut. Doctors and phychologists want him to tell his story without having it colored by ideas conveyed to him on his return.

The successful shot puts the United States back into the space race with Russia.

Soviet scientists copped the first big prize 23 days ago when they boosted the world's first space traveler, Yuri Gagarin, into a 188-mile high orbit and returned him to earth 108 minutes later.

Today's suborbital shot does not match the Russian achievement but is a major step toward orbiting an American which the National Space Agency plans to do later this year.

The purpose of today's flight was to determine if man can perform useful chores in space.

Shepard proved conclusively it could be done.

Shepard Performs Tasks On Ride

He reported constantly throughout the flight that he was able to do certain tasks. such as pushing levers and buttons and operating manual controls.

All the way through he told the control center at Cape Canaveral by radio that everything was okay.

During the flight, Mercury officials said that Shepard was reporting facts and figures just like a test pilot would.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration made this official announcement: "Test No. 108 is terminated. This was the pioneer U.S. man in space flight. The Mercury spacecraft is on the deck of the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain and the helicopter is about to land. Shepard is about to come out of helicopter."

Shepard's reports on the "beautiful view" came only three minutes following launch, after a periscope in the capsule protruded to give the space pilot a view of the earth.

Shepard had entered his space cabin at 6:18 a.m. (EDT), after a final medical examination and a breakfast of filet mignon, scrambled eggs, sherbet and peaches.

He remained there 4 hours, 18 minutes, during a countdown that had been delayed several times by technical troubles and weather.

The Redstone throbbed to life after a countdown directed by former German rocketeer Dr. Kurt Debus.

Debus was assisted by Dr. Werner Von Braun, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration space flight laboratory.

The slender rocket, stretching 83 feet tall with the capsule and 15½-foot escape tower on top, flew a true course as it knifed into a clear sky under the anxious eyes of thousands who crammed into missileland to watch as America for the first time committed a man into space.

Millions See Space Hop On TV

Millions of Shepard's countrymen watched on live television.

As the missile accelerated, forces six times the pull of gravity pushed the astronaut against his couch.

At 141 seconds after launch, the capsule separated and the escape tower — designed to jerk the capsule free and parachute it safely to earth in case of trouble—was jettisoned.

Automatic controls then flipped the nine-foot tall capsule over 180 degrees so the blunt heat shield base led the way, with the pilot riding backward.

About four minutes after launch, Shepard tumbled, as if over a precipice, into a weird and weightless world—an exhilarating experience that lasted about five minutes.

Riding a column of orange exhaust fire, the reliable Redstone rose into a hazy sky in view of thousands watching from nearby beaches and untold numbers of others over the nation with eyes glued to television screens.

As the rocket blasted off, two F106 jet planes zipped over the cape. At the controls were two other members of the astronaut team, Walter Schirra and Scott Carpenter.

They were to observe the launch from above and then speed to the recovery area to watch operations there.

The rocket shot into a large cloud hanging over the Cape briefly, then the exhause flame diminished until it became a pinpoint in the sky.

A puff 140 seconds later indicated the booster burned out as planned.

The astronaut reported the fuel system was OK.

The periscope came out and the ship was moving into proper altitude.

At the time of launch, Shepard had been in the space cabin four hours, 16 minutes, all but 52 minutes in isolation.

The launch originally was scheduled for 8 a.m. (EDT) but was held up several times for weather and technical reasons.

The pilot reported he was switching to manual control. The pilot has manual control of the capsule. Everything still OK.

Shepard said "What a beautiful view."

The pilot reported three to 4-10 cloud cover obscuring the view up to Cape Hatteras.

At 2 minutes and 10 seconds the medical monitor at the control center reported the pilot's condition appears to be excellent.

The pilot is beginning the process of firing his reverse rockets. "Everything very smooth," he reported.

The No. 1 reverse thrust rocket has fired and the second and third retro rockets fired.

The pilot is preparing to jettison the retrorocket gear. Control center reports excellent voice communication with pilot and medical reports OK.

Negotiations Set For Laos Truce

HIN HEUP, Laos (AP) — The royal Laotian government disregarded Communist-backed Prince Souvanna Phouma's call for political negotiations today and sent an all-military delegation to this village to negotiate with representatives of the pro-Communist rebels.

The delegation from the Western-supported regime in Vientiane was headed by Brig. Gen. Sing Rattanasamay. The absence of any members from the civilian Cabinet emphasized the Vientiane government's determination to nail down the cease-fire proclaimed Wednesday before entering into negotiations on a coalition government for Laos and the divided kingdom's representation at the coming Geneva conference.

The Pathet Lao rebel commander agreed to a meeting at noon on the north side of the Nam Lik River, in a no-man's land within range of Communist guns and 50 miles north of Vientiane.

The Vientiane government instructed its delegation to arrange a political conference if details of the cease-fire were settled.

It remained to be seen if the Pathet Lao representatives would go along with this procedure. Souvanna Phouma, the self-styled neutralist supported by the rebels, had put emphasis on the quick formation of a coalition government in proposing the peace parley.

No major fighting has been reported since Wednesday, but Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, strongman of the Vientiane government, said Thursday there have been sporadic attacks that raised doubts about the Pathet Lao's good faith.

More than a half dozen wounded have been brought into Vientiane in the past two days.

The U.S. and British governments have declared they will not go to Geneva unless an armistice is in force. Western military experts in Vientiane concede, however, that there are bound to be flareups in the touchy weeks ahead as a result of ragged communications and probable refusal of some diehard rebel units to obey the cease-fire order.

Prince Souphanouvong, titular leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, today gave full support to the political negotiations proposed by Souvanna Phouma, who is his half brother.

Road Funds Bill Vetoed By Governor

GOP Leaders Seek Votes To Override Action By DiSalle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican legislative leaders are trying to muster enough votes to override Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's veto of a bill to give local governments more highway funds from auto license tag revenue.

The governor's veto message Thursday stated that the bill would take needed revenue from the Ohio Highway Department. And, he added, if highway money matched by the federal government is taken into account, the bill would "deprive the citizens of this state of $32 million in badly needed highway activity."

In lieu of the bill, DiSalle proposed:

1. A legislative commission to appraise needs for highways funds at all government levels during the next year, and to recommend to the next legislature the means for meeting those needs.

2. A stopgap device to meet needs in the next two years by giving local governments about $19 million from fines, fees from drivers' licenses, dealers' licenses, certificates of title, transfers of ownership and registration, duplicate plates and certificates, and special license plate reservations, and including a $10 million one-shot advance on auto registration fee money.

The governor commented that his proposal "would offer a reasonable compromise" to the vetoed bill.

Minimum Wage Law Signed By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed today with "great satisfaction" the bill putting another 3,624,000 workers under the minimum wage law, and increasing the minimum for those already covered.

The minimum for workers now covered by the wage law will rise to $1.25 an hour by 1963. Those put under the bill for the first time will receive a minimum of $1 an hour for the first three years and $1.25 in five years.

The new law takes effect in 120 days.

Balloonist Killed After New Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy medical officer soared higher than man has ever gone in a balloon—113,500 feet up—and then met a tragic death in a 25-foot fall from a rescuing helicopter.

Lt. Cmdr. Victor G. Prather, 34, of Bethesda, Md., fell backward from the sling of the helicopter that had picked him up Thursday in the Gulf of Mexico after an almost perfect landing. He died aboard the carrier Antietam 7½ hours after he and Cmdr. Malcolm Ross, of Washington, soared to their record hight.

Ross was lifted to the carrier by one of three hovering rescue helicopters without injury. He stood on the deck awaiting his companion's rescue.

Hours earlier they were sharing the drama of the record flight, 21½ miles above the gulf. Shortly before reaching maximum altitude, Ross, the pilot, had radioed the carrier that he could see the Atlantic Ocean on the other side of Florida.

Asked on another transmission how things were going, Prather, father of two children, replied: "Things are great. Come on up."

The huge plastic balloon had been launched from the carrier's flight deck off the mouth of the Mississippi River at 7:08 a.m. (Central Standard Time). It reached its maximum altitude 2 hours and 36 minutes later at a point about 136 miles south of Mobile, Ala.

The carrier followed the balloon as it drifted down across the gulf on a southeasterly course. It landed on the gulf at 4:05 p.m. having run into trouble on descent. When the balloonists had dropped to an altitude of about 40,000 feet the rate suddenly and alarmingly had increased to 1,000 feet a minute, according to information relayed to Washington from the carrier.

Prather and Ross jettisoned everything, a Navy spokesman said, including their radio and a drag line which would have been a key facility in an attempt to land aboard the carrier. Loss of the drag line made the planned landing on the carrier impossible, the Navy said.

Navy officials reported the gondola landed on the water "almost perfectly" and that the huge balloon detached itself as it had been designed to do.

Recount Seen Looming For Council Race

Final Count Backs Cooper's Defeat In 1st Ward Contest

The possibility of a recount loomed today after the official canvass of returns from Tuesday's primaries, completed Thursday night, confirmed the three - vote margin by which Councilman Clifford J. Cooper of the First Ward was defeated by Floyd Murray in a four - way Democratic race.

The County Election Board's official count left the totals unchanged from the unofficial tabulation made shortly after the polls closed: 136 for Murray, an Etruria St. resident who is employed at the Midland works of the Crucible Steel Co., and 133 for Cooper, who was bidding for a second term.

There was no material change in any other East Liverpool results. In most cases, the figures stood up exactly with the unofficial tabulation.

The official count will be certified under today's date to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown at Columbus. Cooper has five days after certification of the official count to file for a recount, which would make the deadline next Wednesday.

On the Democratic ticket, there was only one change be-

County Now Processing Reappraisal Information

By GLENN WAIGHT

The "hard" part of Columbiana County's property reappraisal is now under way at Lisbon with the processing of data obtained in the two-year-long field survey, which is now virtually complete.

Office staff workers are now reviewing the survey and compiling the price cards for county real estate and County Auditor Kenneth Bell said this is the most difficult aspect of the re-evaluation work.

Bell said Thursday tentative figures on the trend of the reappraisal's effect on taxes will probably not be available before October, since it is necessary to get an overall statistical view of the valuation before making estimates.

There has been indication from state levels that Columbiana and other counties in the midst of reappraisals are being pressured to get the work done by the end of this year.

Bell has said the county's reappraisal will not be completed until 1962, with the first payments to be made in 1963.

He said the procedure involves completion of tentative figures in the county, submitting them to state authorities for establishment of percentages, holding hearings on the tax schedules, then preparation of the new dup-

Event To Be Saturday

'Salute To Steel' Parade Will Consist Of 30 Units

A parade, climaxing the week-long observance of the Steelmark promotion, will be held Saturday night at 6 through the downtown business section.

"Salute to Steel" will be the theme of the parade, planned by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in its "Better Buy Steel" campaign being held throughout the country.

Dick Chadwick, chairman, said the parade will begin promptly at 6. He said all units should report by 5.

The units will form on Bradshaw Ave. The parade will then travel to Walnut St., on to 5th St. and down 5th to Jackson. There it will turn to 6th and over 6th to Walnut and back on Bradshaw to disband.

Thirty units have been registered to date, Chadwick said. Besides this, the Automobile Dealers Association will have between 35 and 40 new cars and trucks in the line of march.

The East Liverpool High School, Midland High and South Side High bands have been entered, along with the Masonic Shrine Band.

The Weirton Steel Co., Globe Brick Co. and Ohio Power Co. will have floats while the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and Ohio Valley Gas Co. will have displays of steel products.

6 Per Cent Of Work On Freeway Finished

Moving ahead of schedule, work is about 6 per cent complete on the West End-California Hollow Freeway, William P. McKenna, head of the State Highway Department's Division 11 office, reported today at New Philadelphia.

Work is "progressing rapidly" on grading in the interchange area around W. 8th St. and construction of a retaining wall near City Hospital, McKenna said.

It's one of 16 highway relocation projects totaling 27.9 miles and costing $21,821,171 that are under way in Division 11.

Work is about 48 per cent complete on a 1.6-mile relocation of State Route 46 between East Palestine and New Waterford, McKenna said.

Reds World Bid Seen At Peak In Next 18 Months

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says he expects the Communist world offensive to reach its peak during the next 12 to 18 months.

Johnson spoke Thursday night before about 1,500 persons at the annual awards dinner of the Brand Names Foundation in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The means and methods of the Red offensive, Johnson said, "may well depend upon the Communist conclusions about the resolution of the Free World—and especially of the United States."

Warning that we are in for "a long, hard pull," Johnson said the Kennedy administration must have flexibility and freedom of action which could come only from bipartisan support.

Johnson, chairman of the new space council, pledged the eventual superiority of the U. S. in space technology.

"I must tell you that the way will not be easy, the road will not be short, and the cost will not be cheap," Johnson said.

After his dinner speech, Johnson returned to Washington.

Old Soldiers Never Forget

Gen. Eisenhower is represented as feeling that anybody who had studied the battle of Gallipoli would have known better than to risk the kind of invasion that failed in Cuba.

He explains he is speaking from a military standpoint only; that this is the viewpoint of an old soldier who remembers what he learned in War College and during the years when he was planning strategy for the defense of the United States.

Like other former presidents and most political officials, the general thinks it is unbecoming to criticize President Kennedy because the Cuban invasion proved unsuccessful. But it should be permissible to remember in this connection that President Kennedy as commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the United States can be second-guessed on military decisions.

In his military role he either should know, himself, about the precedents that guide military planning, or he should ask the Joint Chiefs of Staff to guide his military decisions. If it is assumed that he did have the benefit of Joint Chiefs counsel, this has escaped the attention of Gen. Eisenhower, who is represented as wondering if Mr. Kennedy asked his military advisers what they thought about the Cuban invasion.

It is recalled in this connection that the Dardanelles campaign and the battle of Gallipoli in World War I were associated closely with the thinking of a headstrong British naval secretary, who disregarded the counsel of elderly lords of the Admiralty and sustained a setback to his political prestige that lasted until Britain turned to him as a last resort when the Nazis were threatening to swarm across the English Channel. Winston Churchill was never allowed to forget the failure of the Dardenelles campaign.

There is, in fact, no lack of comparisons, because it has occurred to others that President Kennedy also can be likened to Sir Anthony Eden, whose decision to launch an attack on Suez backfired so tragically that his long-awaited prime ministry turned into bitter fruit. He never recovered from the blow to his prestige.

Oh Yes, But That's Different

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has flabbergasted its left-field critics by coming out strong for antitrust laws and against price-rigging. But it has added a proviso that won't go down well in left field.

It wants the antitrust laws to be applied to labor unions, which are the greatest price-riggers in sight, thanks to nationwide bargaining. Here is the side of price-rigging that no antitrust divisions lawyer is unlikely to look into. Nor is any federal judge going to think about it when giving his decision on one of the complicated cases developed by Department of Justice lawyers.

Nevertheless, one of the principal elements in industry is the fact that all manufacturing components must base their cost calculations on virtually the same wage rates and fringe benefits. They all deal with the same union, or at least with the same concept of unionism.

The prices of their raw materials are "rigged" by union "price fixing." The prices of transportation are fixed, as are the prices of everything they buy. Yet, when they consult together to determine how they could divide up the market to keep the biggest dogs from eating all the littlest dogs they are acting in defiance of the law.

Moreover, when their spokesmen are represented as having no knowledge that this was so they either are admitting to gross inefficiency as executives or to grave misrepresentation as witnesses.

But in the same circumstances it would be all right for union officials to have done all the things that it was admittedly wrong for the electrical industry executives to do. The antitrust laws should be enforced against all combinations in restraint of trade. There should be no distinctions.

Short Of The Goal

The North Hancock County Red Cross Chapter has experienced the frustration that has beset so many civic organizations—that of failing to meet a goal in a fund campaign.

According to the executive secretary, only $2,500 of the $5,179 quota has been attained. The chapter is hurting financially as a result.

In time of flood—as during March of 1960—and in the case of other emergencies, the chapter has been ever ready to lend a helping hand. It has rendered worthwhile service to the area.

It would be pleasing if the next report from the executive secretary carried the news that the drive had gone over the top or at least approached the point where all necessary services could be assured.

A Policy Worth Emphasizing

Lopsided support for a bill in the Ohio House of Representatives to curb sales promotion by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control reflects agreement on a statewide policy for the management of intoxicating beverages.

The policy is worth emphasizing. It came from the abuse of hard liquor that led to passage of the 18th amendment. It came, too, from the unhappy failure of the 18th amendment.

When the "noble experiment" in prohibition ended, Ohio decided to take a new tack that had been recommended by a Rocekefeller Foundation report. The tack was to make hard liquor available in state stores under a state monopoly but not to push its sale. Beer and wine, on the other hand, were to be distributed widely by private enterprise.

The idealistic hope was that the public would slake its thirst for alcohol in the future with the less potent beverages if they were easy to get and if hard liquor was kept under tight control.

The idealistic hope is a long time behind now, but one important part of it still remains. It is still commonly agreed that Ohio should not be in the business of promoting liquor sales, even though it has a monopoly on the sale of liquor.

The bill that has passed the House in Columbus and gone over to the Senate expresses this policy. Although it hardly is a matter for legislation, being first of all a matter of administrative policy, it has the good effect of reminding legislators that more is at stake in the Ohio liquor monopoly than boosting sales.

It's the Ohio Liquor Control Act, not the Ohio Liquor Promotion Act.

The Once Over

Educators charge kids are so wrapped up in TV that few pay any attention to nursery rhyme characters that once gripped them. All aboard for a 1961 version of Mother Goose:

Little Miss Tuffet sat on a tuffet
Eating of curds of whey;
A sponsor (none bigger) said "Curds help your figure . . .
Get 'Curdy-Tabs' — large size—TODAY."

Jack and Jill went up the hill
But never made the grade;
It seems that they were in the way
(Bang! Bang!) of Shotgun Slade.

Little Boy Blue come blow your horn,
The Earps are in the meadow, the Hitchcocks in the corn;
(Where is the boy who is tending the sheep?
Watching Eliot Ness jail another big creep.)

There was a man in our town and he was wondrous wise
He jumped into his TV set and got nine "Private Eyes";
Now when he saw what he had done, his top he loudly blew
And went for the detergent plugs, exclaiming, "Girls, what's new?"

Old Mother Hubbard went to the cupboard
For bones for her doggie so cute;
She was quickly displaced by a plug for toothpaste —
And the dog was forgotten "to boot."

THE REPUBLICANS may be trying to get Bob Wagner out of City Hall and into the cast of "Riverboat." These conflict - of - interest battles are going pretty far and it could be that the State Investigating Commission will hold the mayor guilty of it on a claim he asked Hudson River excursion boat musician to play "The Good Old Summer Time" when duty required him to ask only for "East Side, West Side, All Around the Town."

What's wrong with friends of mayor hiring presidential campaign headquarters to boost his chances for vice presidential nomination in political campaign? Mr. Wagner could have done just as well in the hotel elevator, unless somebody says the elevator boy was paying for the electricity. This column's hunch is that the matter will boomerang and get Wagner a third term the easy way. There are a lot of New York voters who are sentimental about summer excursion boats, hot afternoons on the Hudson, Bob Wagner's father, Yorkville stein songs and who resent any move to follow operation on the mayor's ear by a demand for his head.

NEW YORK subways are using additional signs featuring pictures of animals which it urges riders not to imitate. How about some jingles:

A hippo, shown a subway sign,
Exclaimed "To ride there ain't my line;
Although I have the jungle touch,
A subway ride is far too much."

If in it I should ever ride
I'd have a most protective hide
But, even so, the prospect's grim. . . .
I'd bleed quite freely getting in.

The elephant is better suited
For subway travel loudly hooted
It blocks the doorway rather roughly
Like humans do, but not so gruffly.

The rhino rides and never knows
When someone's standing on his toes.

Giraffes can stand it more, no doubt:
Their bodies in; their necks still out.

When a person talks over the telephone, the sound of his voice is transformed into electrical energy, which travels through the wires — and at the other end of the line the electrical energy is reconverted into sound.

If D-Minus Plus One Comes

By Victor Riesel

If D-Minus suddenly springs across the land, chaos won't be more than a split second behind—for D-Minus is the insiders code for the moment of enemy massive nuclear attack on the U.S. mainland. To these insiders everything else is "limited war." And in the past few weeks there have been swift, efficient inner sanctum discussions of plans to keep the economic system going and give money and means of exchange some meaning at D-Minus plus one.

Victor Riesel

At that minute fully 40 per cent of our cities with their banks and records and vaults, could be going up in radioactive smoke. How then do the rest of us — or rest of you — pay for bread and milk?

How will wages and salaries be issued if the banks are blown, the credit system blasted to shreds and the whole monetary machinery disrupted?

What happens to wages, prices, new and enormous costs, of production amid vast disruption and labor-management feuds.

No one really knows. No one is an expert on D-Minus plus one or even plus 100. But no one wants to wait — and may God never permit it — until they are faced with a "hit" which has destroyed government operations here, or driven our national leaders into underground compartments with slashed communications.

Other federal departments will care for the human needs but the Department of Labor has been assigned to keep the economic system going.

THIS WAS discussed at two private meetings in the United States Labor Department — one on April 20 with business leaders and another on April 18 with a labor group headed by AFL-CIO second-in-command William Schnitzler, it only now can be reported.

It was a grim day the morning the nine businessmen gathered in a conference room not far from the secretary of labor's own office — for word came that Arthur Goldberg had been summoned by the President to an emergency cabinet meeting, the decisions of which could still bring a showdown and armed conflict.

The businessmen were briefed on four plans previously considered by those whose job it is to make certain that there is an economic system at D-Minus plus one. Most of these formulas meant substituting some new kind of economic system. For a while the planners had talked of substituting scrip for good old dollars.

THAT WAS DISCARDED. Then came the easy talk of a dictatorship, authoritarian rule, the control of supplies and the allocation and distribution by decree. This was discarded.

Then it had been thought that the entire system simply would be shut down, money temporarily declared useless and all supplies handled by existing regional governments. This was discarded.

Finally it was decided not to decide anything yet, really, but to seek the advice of business and labor on maintaining our very own system, even if part of it had been blasted by the first attack.

No one yet really knows how. Perhaps a system of duplicate records, mints, credit systems. But one thing all knew — there must be instantaneous freezing of wages, prices, salaries and absolute freezing of everything.

Sort of a thermonuclear normalcy — but frozen at the very second the D-Minus heat hits. The government people know that neither labor nor management are enamored with the thought of being forced to do anything by decree.

Management people quietly pointed out that there was nothing in the rule books yet that banned strikes or froze jobs so there would be no surges of labor from one area to another.

SOME ONE at the management conference asked how does one absorb the horrendous skyrocketing production and delivery costs —such as ripped-up transportation —if prices are frozen immediately at pre-D-Minus rates. Okay not to mark up goods on hand. But what about new production?

During the separate labor parley held two days earlier, the union chiefs wanted to know about the price freeze. It was pointed out that the Labor Department has regional offices and could clamp down on wages before the smoke cleared.

But the labor men observed there was no machinery to keep prices level. It would take two to three months to put such mechanism in gear — and meanwhile prices would go moon-wise.

No one in either session objected to the big freeze should dreaded D-Minus day blitz us. Both sides, each in their separate gatherings, wanted one thing for certain — they wanted a specific plan, now. And as they left with a prayer, they agreed to return to set rules by which all could keep a system of equity going, even as human nature recovered from the first shock of a D-Minus —may it never come.

On Secretary Rusk

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

How does Secretary of State Dean Rusk compare with his predecessor after his first 3½ months in office?

He's still pretty much an unknown quantity because he's not very talkative, he's not dramatic, and he lets President Kennedy make the big pronouncements.

That's a switch.

The late, controversial John Foster Dulles—secretary of state through most of the Eisenhower administration—was just the opposite.

He had a lot to say, was dramatic, and seemed to make foreign policy for President Eisenhower.

Rusk has had four news conferences since Jan. 20, just as many as Dulles in the same length of time. But that's no basis for comparison.

Rusk and Dulles took office under different circumstances. When Dulles became secretary this was the situation:

The United States was at war in Korea; Sen. Joseph McCarthy was still making the State Department his No. 1 punching bag in his anti-Communist project; and this country was still the No. 1 military power.

This was the situation confronting Rusk:

Russia was now the military equal if not the superior of the United States; the influence of communism around the world had vastly increased; and, as a result Rusk had to be less belligerent and flamboyant than Dulles.

But the pressures on Dulles were more visible.

By necessity he had to take actions and positions on both Korea and McCarthy almost daily. This alone would have kept him more in the public eye and provided more insight into him than Rusk's problems so far.

As for dealing with the Russians: Dulles could afford to make colorful threats—like "massive retaliation" — when the United States, not the Soviets, had the preponderance of atomic power. In short, he could bluff and get away with it.

Rusk can't, now that the Russians have enough power to wipe out both the United States and its European allies. So his statements are more guarded.

But even if Rusk had been secretary in Dulles' time he probably would have been more guarded anyway. That seems to be his nature. He tends to understate rather than overstate.

For this reason it is more difficult to appraise him even though difficulties are piling up for him in Cuba, Laos and South Viet Nam. He doesn't try to make news on any of those problems. He lets Kennedy make it.

Dulles was different. With President Eisenhower reluctant to get into controversy, Dulles took stands on issues affecting foreign policy. Now it's Kennedy who takes them, not Rusk.

It may turn out that Rusk is the most mature and best-balanced of Kennedy's advisors, although neither Rusk, nor Kennedy nor anyone else looked good in this government's approval of the Cuban invasion which turned into disaster.

In short, compared with Dulles, Rusk looks gray. But coloration doesn't necessarily involve judgment. And any decision on Rusk's judgment will require more evidence than is publicly available now.

The public would be in a much better position to appraise Rusk if the Kennedy administration was ever willing to reveal just what role Rusk played in the Cuban decision.

Odd Facts

The old saying, "Speak no evil, see no evil, hear no evil," comes from an ancient Japanese proverb, which has become associated with the three monkeys in the mural decorations of Nikko. There is a legend that Confucius originated both the proverb and the symbols.

A "quitclaim deed" is a deed by which some right, title, interest, or claim, which one person has or is supposed to have, is released or relinquished to another person.

The average 14-year-old American boy of today is two and one-half inches taller and weighs 18½ pounds more than his counterpart of 30 years ago.

It has been calculated that in a five-card poker game, there is only one chance in 4,165 of being dealt four cards of one kind.

Executive System Ills

By David Lawrence

A Cabinet Council Is Suggested

Is there something wrong with the executive system in America? Or is there something wrong about electing to the presidency of the United States a man who has had no executive training or intimate knowledge of the workings of the executive branch of the government? Or is there something wrong in having a transition period of several months between an outgoing and an incoming administration, thereby paralyzing executive planning for the immediate future and causing serious consequences like the ill-fated venture in Cuba?

David Lawrence

Answers to these questions are more important today than just how the United States is to help in Laos or what position is to be taken in Cuba. If the executive office of the government of the United States isn't functioning efficiently, how can the chief executive be expected to act instantly and effectively at a time when a missile or a bomb may be launched suddenly from an enemy area?

It does little good to blame this or that group of advisers — those who had experience in the last administration or the new set who have been brought in from academic circles.

With all their earnestness and sincerity, most of the newcomers lack experience in and firsthand knowledge of government operations at the top level.

What's fundamentally wrong is the executive system. Various members of Congress are spending a lot of time complaining that they should have been "briefed" on the administration's planning in Cuba.

But it is the true role of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — admittedly a partisan group with some publicity-seeking members always vocal — which needs to be studied, so that it can play a proper but not a meddling part in the field of foreign policy.

There are some members of Congress who feel they should make the nation's policy in world affairs. Others feel they should only advise on foreign policy. But, as a practical matter, no executive into his confidence dozens of persons inside and outside of Congress who "leak" information regularly to favorite members of the press.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY likes to listen to a variety of views and is to be commended for his patience and restraint, but no amount of conferencing with a lot of college professors can give him the maturity and experience he needs to run the high office to which he has been elected.

He will be a much better President a year hence, because of actual experience in the office, than he is today. He will learn that too many academicians at his side can bring confusion instead of clarity, and that a diffusion of responsibility can only produce chaos and failure.

The founding fathers provided in the Constitution for heads of departments who would be nominated by the president and confirmed with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Cabinet government has worked successfully in Britain and in other English - speaking democracies.

Although Mr. Kennedy's Cabinet got at the start a lot of publicity as an able body of men, it turns out that this same group is rarely consulted on the broad aspects of national and international policy and that they have become mere heads of their own departments.

WHAT IS NEEDED here is a cabinet council that gives full time to counselling the President. The departments can be run by general managers, and the cabinet council could meet every day and give the President advice.

If the present cabinet members aren't qualified to be presidential advisers on broad policy, there are plenty of able men in America who could serve in that capacity, but it is courting disaster to assume that academicians, who have little experience in the operations of government, can shunt the secretary of state aside or that decisions can be made with one or two cabinet officers without the chance for a larger group of mature men to sit down and work out a policy based on principles of enduring strength.

There's much that is wrong in the current operations of the executive system. The so-called Cuban fiasco is but the beginning of a series of failures unless President Kennedy gets rid of most of the "kibitzers" who are running around in circles in the new administration and set up at his side a cabinet council of men of stature to give full time every day to the task of helping him make national and international policies. He can't do it all himself.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I am shocked by the alacrity with which President Kennedy's boosters have become his critics, in some instances. No booster of his last fall, I am a booster of his now because he is going to be my president for four years whether his critics like him or not.

The lousy weather had me down until I received a four-page letter listing many bitter complaints ending with this: "I sure hope the sun shines tomorrow." After that, the lousy weather had me down the same as before but I could laugh about it.

I have missed only two trips to the polls in my life, starting the year I turned 21. One time the only issue on the ballot was whether to let margarine manufacturers put in yellow coloring and this year the polls in our rural precinct weren't open because there was nothing to vote on.

The father of a friend of mine reports he found a taxi driver in a place in the Bahamas who never had heard of this part of the United States and knew only in a vague way about a place called New York City. I did not find this remarkable, however, because I never had heard of the place in the Bahamas where this fellow lived. To carry the matter further, I examined the new atlas and discovered that I never heard of most of the places where people live right here in the United States.

Whenever there's nothing better to discuss, I can always enjoy talking for another half hour about various breeds of dogs, reaching the conclusion that no one would settle for less than two dozen dogs of assorted breeds.

Among points of view that make me mutter unprintable words under my breath and turn my attention elsewhere is the idea that education should be turned upside down and carried on in some brand new form. It isn't going to happen so why talk about it?

For the first time since the latter days of the Truman administration, the word "mess" is being heard in descriptions of Washington.

It sometimes seems to me the important thing to remember about propagandists is that we can spot most propaganda and so can the people on the other side of the issue. Out of a thousand Russians, probably no more than 200 believe half of the propaganda guff they read and hear; in the United States, probably 100 out of 1,000.

Old Soldiers Never Forget

Gen. Eisenhower is represented as feeling that anybody who had studied the battle of Gallipoli would have known better than to risk the kind of invasion that failed in Cuba.

He explains he is speaking from a military standpoint only; that this is the viewpoint of an old soldier who remembers what he learned in War College and during the years when he was planning strategy for the defense of the United States.

Like other former presidents and most political officials, the general thinks it is unbecoming to criticize President Kennedy because the Cuban invasion proved unsuccessful. But it should be permissible to remember in this connection that President Kennedy as commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the United States can be second-guessed on military decisions.

In his military role he either should know, himself, about the precedents that guide military planning, or he should ask the Joint Chiefs of Staff to guide his military decisions. If it is assumed that he did have the benefit of Joint Chiefs counsel, this has escaped the attention of Gen. Eisenhower, who is represented as wondering if Mr. Kennedy asked his military advisers what they thought about the Cuban invasion.

It is recalled in this connection that the Dardanelles campaign and the battle of Gallipoli in World War I were associated closely with the thinking of a headstrong British naval secretary, who disregarded the counsel of elderly lords of the Admiralty and sustained a setback to his political prestige that lasted until Britain turned to him as a last resort when the Nazis were threatening to swarm across the English Channel. Winston Churchill was never allowed to forget the failure of the Dardenelles campaign.

There is, in fact, no lack of comparisons, because it has occurred to others that President Kennedy also can be likened to Sir Anthony Eden, whose decision to launch an attack on Suez backfired so tragically that his long-awaited prime ministry turned into bitter fruit. He never recovered from the blow to his prestige.

Oh Yes, But That's Different

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has flabbergasted its left-field critics by coming out strong for antitrust laws and against price-rigging. But it has added a proviso that won't go down well in left field.

It wants the antitrust laws to be applied to labor unions, which are the greatest price-riggers in sight, thanks to nationwide bargaining. Here is the side of price-rigging that no antitrust divisions lawyer is unlikely to look into. Nor is any federal judge going to think about it when giving his decision on one of the complicated cases developed by Department of Justice lawyers.

Nevertheless, one of the principal elements in industry is the fact that all manufacturing components must base their cost calculations on virtually the same wage rates and fringe benefits. They all deal with the same union, or at least with the same concept of unionism.

The prices of their raw materials are "rigged" by union "price fixing." The prices of transportation are fixed, as are the prices of everything they buy. Yet, when they consult together to determine how they could divide up the market to keep the biggest dogs from eating all the littlest dogs they are acting in defiance of the law.

Moreover, when their spokesmen are represented as having no knowledge that this was so they either are admitting to gross inefficiency as executives or to grave misrepresentation as witnesses.

But in the same circumstances it would be all right for union officials to have done all the things that it was admittedly wrong for the electrical industry executives to do. The antitrust laws should be enforced against all combinations in restraint of trade. There should be no distinctions.

Short Of The Goal

The North Hancock County Red Cross Chapter has experienced the frustration that has beset so many civic organizations—that of failing to meet a goal in a fund campaign.

According to the executive secretary, only $2,500 of the $5,179 quota has been attained. The chapter is hurting financially as a result.

In time of flood—as during March of 1960—and in the case of other emergencies, the chapter has been ever ready to lend a helping hand. It has rendered worthwhile service to the area.

It would be pleasing if the next report from the executive secretary carried the news that the drive had gone over the top or at least approached the point where all necessary services could be assured.

A Policy Worth Emphasizing

Lopsided support for a bill in the Ohio House of Representatives to curb sales promotion by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control reflects agreement on a statewide policy for the management of intoxicating beverages.

The policy is worth emphasizing. It came from the abuse of hard liquor that led to passage of the 18th amendment. It came, too, from the unhappy failure of the 18th amendment.

When the "noble experiment" in prohibition ended, Ohio decided to take a new tack that had been recommended by a Rockefeller Foundation report. The tack was to make hard liquor available in state stores under a state monopoly but not to push its sale. Beer and wine, on the other hand, were to be distributed widely by private enterprise.

The idealistic hope was that the public would slake its thirst for alcohol in the future with the less potent beverages if they were easy to get and if hard liquor was kept under tight control.

The idealistic hope is a long time behind now, but one important part of it still remains. It is still commonly agreed that Ohio should not be in the business of promoting liquor sales, even though it has a monopoly on the sale of liquor.

The bill that has passed the House in Columbus and gone over to the Senate expresses this policy. Although it hardly is a matter for legislation, being first of all a matter of administrative policy, it has the good effect of reminding legislators that more is at stake in the Ohio liquor monopoly than boosting sales.

It's the Ohio Liquor Control Act, not the Ohio Liquor Promotion Act.

Rusk can't, now that the Russians have enough power to wipe out both the United States and its European allies. So his statements are more guarded.

But even if Rusk had been secretary in Dulles' time he probably would have been more guarded anyway. That seems to be his nature. He tends to understate rather than overstate.

For this reason it is more difficult to appraise him even though difficulties are piling up for him in Cuba, Laos and South Viet Nam. He doesn't try to make news on any of those problems. He lets Kennedy make it.

Dulles was different. With President Eisenhower reluctant to get into controversy, Dulles took stands on issues affecting foreign policy. Now it's Kennedy who takes them, not Rusk.

It may turn out that Rusk is the most mature and best-balanced of Kennedy's advisors, although neither Rusk, nor Kennedy nor anyone else looked good in this government's approval of the Cuban invasion which turned into disaster.

In short, compared with Dulles, Rusk looks gray. But coloration doesn't necessarily involve judgment. And any decision on Rusk's judgment will require more evidence than is publicly available now.

The public would be in a much better position to appraise Rusk if the Kennedy administration was ever willing to reveal just what role Rusk played in the Cuban decision.

Odd Facts

The old saying, "Speak no evil, see no evil, hear no evil," comes from an ancient Japanese proverb, which has become associated with the three monkeys in the mural decorations of Nikko. There is a legend that Confucius originated both the proverb and the symbols.

A "quitclaim deed" is a deed by which some right, title, interest, or claim, which one person has or is supposed to have, is released or relinquished to another person.

The average 14-year-old American boy of today is two and one-half inches taller and weighs 18½ pounds more than his counterpart of 30 years ago.

Executive System Ills

By David Lawrence

A Cabinet Council Is Suggested

Is there something wrong with the executive system in America? Or is there something wrong about electing to the presidency of the United States a man who has had no executive training or intimate knowledge of the workings of the executive branch of the government? Or is there something wrong in having a transition period of several months between an outgoing and an incoming administration, thereby paralyzing executive planning for the immediate future and causing serious consequences like the ill-fated venture in Cuba?

David Lawrence

Answers to these questions are more important today than just how the United States is to help in Laos or what position is to be taken in Cuba. If the executive office of the government of the United States isn't functioning efficiently, how can the chief executive be expected to act instantly and effectively at a time when a missile or a bomb may be launched suddenly from an enemy area?

It does little good to blame this or that group of advisers — those who had experience in the last administration or the new set who have been brought in from academic circles.

With all their earnestness and sincerity, most of the newcomers lack experience in and firsthand knowledge of government operations at the top level.

What's fundamentally wrong is the executive system. Various members of Congress are spending a lot of time complaining that they should have been "briefed" on the administration's planning in Cuba.

But it is the true role of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — admittedly a partisan group with some publicity-seeking members always vocal — which needs to be studied, so that it can play a proper but not a meddling part in the field of foreign policy.

There are some members of Congress who feel they should make the nation's policy in world affairs. Others feel they should only advise on foreign policy. But, as a practical matter, no executive into his confidence dozens of persons inside and outside of Congress who "leak" information regularly to favorite members of the press.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY likes to listen to a variety of views and is to be commended for his patience and restraint, but no amount of conferencing with a lot of college professors can give him the maturity and experience he needs to run the high office to which he has been elected.

He will be a much better President a year hence, because of actual experience in the office, than he is today. He will learn that too many academicians at his side can bring confusion instead of clarity, and that a diffusion of responsibility can only produce chaos and failure.

The founding fathers provided in the Constitution for heads of departments who would be nominated by the president and confirmed with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Cabinet government has worked successfully in Britain and in other English - speaking democracies.

Although Mr. Kennedy's Cabinet got at the start a lot of publicity as an able body of men, it turns out that this same group is rarely consulted on the broad aspects of national and international policy and that they have become mere heads of their own departments.

WHAT IS NEEDED here is a cabinet council that gives full time to counselling the President. The departments can be run by general managers, and the cabinet council could meet every day and give the President advice.

If the present cabinet members aren't qualified to be presidential advisers on broad policy, there are plenty of able men in America who could serve in that capacity, but it is courting disaster to assume that academicians, who have little experience in the operations of government, can shunt the secretary of state aside or that decisions can be made with one or two cabinet officers without the chance for a larger group of mature men to sit down and work out a policy based on principles of enduring strength.

There's much that is wrong in the current operations of the executive system. The so-called Cuban fiasco is but the beginning of a series of failures unless President Kennedy gets rid of most of the "kibitzers" who are running around in circles in the new administration and set up at his side a cabinet council of men of stature to give full time every day to the task of helping him make national and international policies. He can't do it all himself.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I am shocked by the alacrity with which President Kennedy's boosters have become his critics, in some instances. No booster of his last fall, I am a booster of his now because he is going to be my president for four years whether his critics like him or not.

The lousy weather had me down until I received a four-page letter listing many bitter complaints ending with this: "I sure hope the sun shines tomorrow." After that, the lousy weather had me down the same as before but I could laugh about it.

I have missed only two trips to the polls in my life, starting the year I turned 21. One time the only issue on the ballot was whether to let margarine manufacturers put in yellow coloring and this year the polls in our rural precinct weren't open because there was nothing to vote on.

The father of a friend of mine reports he found a taxi driver in a place in the Bahamas who never had heard of this part of the United States and knew only in a vague way about a place called New York City. I did not find this remarkable, however, because I never had heard of the place in the Bahamas where this fellow lived. To carry the matter further, I examined the new atlas and discovered that I never heard of most of the places where people live right here in the United States.

Whenever there's nothing better to discuss, I can always enjoy talking for another half hour about various breeds of dogs, reaching the conclusion that no one would settle for less than two dozen dogs of assorted breeds.

Among points of view that make me mutter unprintable words under my breath and turn my attention elsewhere is the idea that education should be turned upside down and carried on in some brand new form. It isn't going to happen so why talk about it?

For the first time since the latter days of the Truman administration, the word "mess" is being heard in descriptions of Washington.

It sometimes seems to me the important thing to remember about propagandists is that we can spot most propaganda and so can the people on the other side of the issue. Out of a thousand Russians, probably no more than 200 believe half of the propaganda guff they read and hear; in the United States, probably 100 out of 1,000.

Final Count Upholds Loss Of 2 Issues

The official canvass of returns from special elections held in conjunction with Tuesday's primary confirmed the defeat of a school bond issue and a village operating levy in Lisbon and the victory of a $356,000 bond issue and companion half - mill tax levy to finance a new high school in Southern Local School District.

The official count showed four more affirmative votes on the Lisbon School District's $350,000 bond issue and a loss of three negative votes, but the changes were not enough to alter the defeat.

The official count showed an affirmative vote of 726, compared with 722 in the unofficial returns, and a negative vote of 498, a drop of three from the 501 shown in the unofficial count.

The issue required a 60 per cent affirmative vote for approval. On the basis of the official count, it lost by eight votes, as 734 would have been required for approval. The total vote on the issue was 1,225.

The official count on the Lisbon village 3-mill operating levy showed a drop of four in the affirmative vote for a new total of 491 and a gain of three in the negative vote, for a new total of 438. It required a 55 per cent vote for approval. On the basis of the official returns, the issue lost by 20 votes. It would have needed 511 for approval. In the unofficial canvass, the issue apparently was defeated by 16.

Despite changes in the count on the Southern Local proposition, there was no change in the result. The affirmative vote dropped by four for a new total of 859 and the negative vote stayed unchanged at 281. It required only a majority for approval.

The county was unchanged on two other propositions.

The official count on a Leetonia village 4-mill operating levy remained at 182 in favor and 102 against. It won by 32, as it required a 55 per cent affirmative poll.

The vote on a Salem School District 4-mill operating levy remained unaltered at 1,267 in favor and 823 against. Requiring a 60 per cent vote, it won by 13.

Student Loses Part Of Hand In 'Rocket' Blast

LISBON — Columbiana County sheriff's deputies today continued investigation of an explosion of dynamite which blasted off the thumb and parts of the hand of a Knox Local School student attempting to build a rocket Thursday night.

Allen L. Charleston, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Charleston of Alliance R. D. 5, is in Alliance City Hospital with the severe hand injury.

The youth was constructing a rocket at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hales with two Hales boys when the dynamite exploded at 6:45 as he was tapping it into a pipe.

It was reported that the youth had obtained a stick of the explosive from a friend for 25 cents, and was building a rocket similar to one constructed in his science class.

Deputies are trying to locate the box of dynamite which the youth who sold the explosive to Campbell is reported to have, Sheriff Russell VanFossan said.

Astronaut Back Safely After Flight To Space

The retrorocket packet attached to the capsule has been jettisoned.

The Mission Mercury Control Center reported the mission was 6 minutes and 40 seconds old and Shepard reporting in normal procedure of test pilot — automatic control system operating properly.

The spacecraft is beginning to enter the atmosphere and pilot reports beginning of gravity pressure. He is now up to 9 Gs.

"OK," he reported.

Peak gravity forces now but still reporting OK.

All data of the control center is reported excellent.

Pilot reports he is at 30,000 feet on the way down.

The pilot is talking to Grand Bahama Island and they are reading him.

First parachute out.

Pilot reports all systems in the capsule OK.

Control center says pilot OK as he approaches the Atlantic.

The main parachute now has been deployed.

The capsule is now floating to the water 660 seconds from liftoff.

Shepard says he is at 7,000 feet and coming in for landing.

Communications at this point are reporting "little rough." Control center people said they expected this.

Recovery forces downrange report seeing capsule.

The pilot reported he is coming down 30 feet a second.

The control ships reported that the capsule has landed and recovery crafts dispatched.

A helicopter took off and circled the area and is now moving in on it.

The recovery forces reported that helicopter has lifted the capsule into a normal upright position.

Shepard reports by voice communication he is in contact with recovery craft and he "OK."

To Astronaut, Life Series Of Challenges

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —To Alan Bartlett Shepard Jr., 37, the first American to ride a rocket into space, life has been a series of challanges.

Asked recently why he volunteered for the hazardous mission, the Navy commander said: "The flight is obviously a challenge and I feel that the more severe challenge will occur on the first flight. I signed up to accept this challenge."

His wife, Louise, once said that if Alan couldn't find a challenge, he would create one.

He became impatient while taking Navy flight training and went to a civilian flight school in his spare time to get his private license.

He loves water-skiing. First he used two skies, then one. Later he started hunting for a boat that would pull him fast enough to ski on his bare feet.

Shepard finds challenges where other men might find only chores.

In his wife's words, "He is always reading technical manuals and the big policy-type journals the kind the admirals and generals say should be read."

Other men his age drive sedans. Shepard drives a high-powered white sports car fitted with racing tires.

The biggest challenge of his life came this morning when Shepard was tapped for the journey into space.

But it was a challenge he has spent two years preparing to meet.

To prepare his muscular body he allowed himself to be jolted, jerked, spun, shaken, crushed, chilled and roasted.

To prepare his genius-level mind —IQ somewhere between 135 and 147 — he boned up on astronautics, astrophysics, fuels, guidance systems, meteorology, astronomy and geography.

Asked if he now feels that he is ready, he recently said: "The answer is an overwhelming yes—a resounding yes."

Shepard comes of a military family. His father, a retired Army colonel, lives in East Derry, N.H., where Alan was born Nov. 18, 1923.

After early schooling in East Derry, Alan entered the Naval Academy at Annapolis and was graduated in 1944.

After World War II he entered flight training, then became a test pilot. In his role he flew high-altitude missions, helped develop the Navy's in-flight refueling system and contributed to research on carrier-landing techniques.

Over the years he has racked up 3,700 hours of flying time, 1,800 in jets.

Despite the dangers of his work —he has had several close calls in experimental planes—Shepard believes his family has learned to live with his inability to pass up a challenge.

"I don't bring home the day-to-day crises," he says. "It's hard to hide a blowup on the pad, but life goes on normally. The kids (Juliana, 9, and Laura, 13) exhibit their mother's calm, rational approach."

How to add years to your life

100 years ago the average American could expect to live about 40 years. Today—about 70. Modern sanitation, diet, drugs and medical practice have added 30 years to our life span. And note that 70 is average. Many die sooner. Many live longer. You up your chances of being a "longer" if you eat properly and get proper medical care. This means periodic check-ups by your physician. As pharmacists we are pleased to help by supplying the drugs your doctor prescribes—drugs unknown a century ago. We're so conscious of the effectiveness of modern medicine that we're shooting for a life span of 100 years.

Final Count Upholds Loss Of 2 Issues

The official canvass of returns from special elections held in conjunction with Tuesday's primary confirmed the defeat of a school bond issue and a village operating levy in Lisbon and the victory of a $356,000 bond issue and companion half - mill tax levy to finance a new high school in Southern Local School District.

The official count showed four more affirmative votes on the Lisbon School District's $350,000 bond issue and a loss of three negative votes, but the changes were not enough to alter the defeat.

The official count showed an affirmative vote of 726, compared with 722 in the unofficial returns, and a negative vote of 498, a drop of three from the 501 shown in the unofficial count.

The issue required a 60 per cent affirmative vote for approval. On the basis of the official count, it lost by eight votes, as 734 would have been required for approval. The total vote on the issue was 1,225.

The official count on the Lisbon village 3-mill operating levy showed a drop of four in the affirmative vote for a new total of 491 and a gain of three in the negative vote, for a new total of 438. It required a 55 per cent vote for approval. On the basis of the official returns, the issue lost by 20 votes. It would have needed 511 for approval. In the unofficial canvass, the issue apparently was defeated by 16.

Despite changes in the count on the Southern Local proposition, there was no change in the result. The affirmative vote dropped by four for a new total of 859 and the negative vote stayed unchanged at 281. It required only a majority for approval.

The county was unchanged on two other propositions.

The official count on a Leetonia village 4-mill operating levy remained at 182 in favor and 102 against. It won by 32, as it required a 55 per cent affirmative poll.

The vote on a Salem School District 4-mill operating levy remained unaltered at 1,267 in favor and 823 against. Requiring a 60 per cent vote, it won by 13.

Student Loses Part Of Hand In 'Rocket' Blast

LISBON — Columbiana County sheriff's deputies today continued investigation of an explosion of dynamite which blasted off the thumb and parts of the hand of a Knox Local School student attempting to build a rocket Thursday night.

Allen L. Charleston, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Charleston of Alliance R. D. 5, is in Alliance City Hospital with the severe hand injury.

The youth was constructing a rocket at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hales with two Hales boys when the dynamite exploded at 6:45 as he was tapping it into a pipe.

It was reported that the youth had obtained a stick of the explosive from a friend for 25 cents, and was building a rocket similar to one constructed in his science class.

Deputies are trying to locate the box of dynamite which the youth who sold the explosive to Campbell is reported to have, Sheriff Russell VanFossan said.

Astronaut Back Safely After Flight To Space

The retrorocket packet attached to the capsule has been jettisoned.

The Mission Mercury Control Center reported the mission was 6 minutes and 40 seconds old and Shepard reporting in normal procedure of test pilot — automatic control system operating properly.

The spacecraft is beginning to enter the atmosphere and pilot reports beginning of gravity pressure. He is now up to 9 Gs.

"OK," he reported.

Peak gravity forces now but still reporting OK.

All data of the control center is reported excellent.

Pilot reports he is at 30,000 feet on the way down.

The pilot is talking to Grand Bahama Island and they are reading him.

First parachute out.

Pilot reports all systems in the capsule OK.

Control center says pilot OK as he approaches the Atlantic.

The main parachute now has been deployed.

The capsule is now floating to the water 660 seconds from liftoff.

Shepard says he is at 7,000 feet and coming in for landing.

Communications at this point are reporting "little rough." Control center people said they expected this.

Recovery forces downrange report seeing capsule.

The pilot reported he is coming down 30 feet a second.

The control ships reported that the capsule has landed and recovery crafts dispatched.

A helicopter took off and circled the area and is now moving in on it.

The recovery forces reported that helicopter has lifted the capsule into a normal upright position.

Shepard reports by voice communication he is in contact with recovery craft and he "OK."

To Astronaut, Life Series Of Challenges

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —To Alan Bartlett Shepard Jr., 37, the first American to ride a rocket into space, life has been a series of challanges.

Asked recently why he volunteered for the hazardous mission, the Navy commander said: "The flight is obviously a challenge and I feel that the more severe challenge will occur on the first flight. I signed up to accept this challenge."

His wife, Louise, once said that if Alan couldn't find a challenge, he would create one.

He became impatient while taking Navy flight training and went to a civilian flight school in his spare time to get his private license.

He loves water-skiing. First he used two skies, then one. Later he started hunting for a boat that would pull him fast enough to ski on his bare feet.

Shepard finds challenges where other men might find only chores.

In his wife's words, "He is always reading technical manuals and the big policy-type journals the kind the admirals and generals say should be read."

Other men his age drive sedans. Shepard drives a high-powered white sports car fitted with racing tires.

The biggest challenge of his life came this morning when Shepard was tapped for the journey into space.

But it was a challenge he has spent two years preparing to meet.

To prepare his muscular body he allowed himself to be jolted, jerked, spun, shaken, crushed, chilled and roasted.

To prepare his genius-level mind —IQ somewhere between 135 and 147 — he boned up on astronautics, astrophysics, fuels, guidance systems, meteorology, astronomy and geography.

Asked if he now feels that he is ready, he recently said: "The answer is an overwhelming yes—a resounding yes."

Shepard comes of a military family. His father, a retired Army colonel, lives in East Derry, N.H., where Alan was born Nov. 18, 1923.

After early schooling in East Derry, Alan entered the Naval Academy at Annapolis and was graduated in 1944.

After World War II he entered flight training, then became a test pilot. In his role he flew high-altitude missions, helped develop the Navy's in-flight refueling system and contributed to research on carrier-landing techniques.

Over the years he has racked up 3,700 hours of flying time, 1,800 in jets.

Despite the dangers of his work —he has had several close calls in experimental planes—Shepard believes his family has learned to live with his inability to pass up a challenge.

"I don't bring home the day-to-day crises," he says. "It's hard to hide a blowup on the pad, but life goes on normally. The kids (Juliana, 9, and Laura, 13) exhibit their mother's calm, rational approach."

How to add years to your life

100 years ago the average American could expect to live about 40 years. Today—about 70. Modern sanitation, diet, drugs and medical practice have added 30 years to our life span. And note that 70 is average. Many die sooner. Many live longer. You up your chances of being a "longer" if you eat properly and get proper medical care. This means periodic check-ups by your physician. As pharmacists we are pleased to help by supplying the drugs your doctor prescribes—drugs unknown a century ago. We're so conscious of the effectiveness of modern medicine that we're shooting for a life span of 100 years.

Polling Sites Set For Bond Issue Ballot

The Hancock County Board of Education has designated polling sites for the special election May 16 on a proposed $5¼-million bond issue for school expansion and modernization.

The building program was recommended by a research team from Ohio State University following a six-month survey of the county system.

The program would include construction of a 600-pupil high school at Pughtown to serve Northern Hancock County, a 1,000 - pupil high school and 300-pupil junior high school for Weirton, and a 300-pupil elementary school in Chester.

It also would provide funds for remodeling projects, including a $15,000 heating plant for Weir Junior High, windows for Weir High costing about $15,000, and remodeling of shower and locker rooms for Chester High and Wells High of Newell, estimated at $9000 each.

The new northern county high school would be erected for about $1,797,130 on a 96-acre tract on Gas Valley Rd., for sophomore, junior and senior pupils now attending schools in Chester, Newell and New Cumberland.

The new high schools, seen necessary by the County Board and OSU researchers to cope with a swelling enrollment, would be campus-style structures.

The polling sites listed by the Board of Education for Grant and Clay Districts in the northern portion of the county are:

GRANT DISTRICT

Precinct 1, Chester City Hall; Precinct 2, Chester Central School; Precinct 3, Chester High School; Precinct 4, Chester Washington School; Precinct 5, Grandview School; Precinct 6, Rock Springs Park in Chester; Precinct 7, Newell Jefferson School; Precinct 8, Wells High School in Newell, and Precinct 9, Tom Rennix's residence in Congo.

CLAY DISTRICT

Precinct 11, Thelma Phillip's residence on Hardins Run Rd.; Precinct 12, Squire John D. Herron's office, New Cumberland; Precinct 13, New Cumberland High School; Precinct 14, Mrs. Charles Finnicum's residence, 3rd Ave., New Cumberland; Precinct 15, Pughtown Elementary School.

The bond issue requires 60 per cent for approval.

Passage of the bond issue will not mean increased tax rates because the present rates would be extended for 20 years, the board has pointed out.

The rates will be the same as those now in affect, Class I property, 10½ cents on each $100 of assessed valuation; Class II, 21 cents, and Classes III and IV, 42 cents.

Polls in each of the county's 32 precincts will be open from 7:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m.

Glenmoor Firemen Appoint Committees

Carnival committees were appointed at the meeting of the Glenmoor Firemen's Association Thursday night at the fire station.

Devine Banks, president, will check on sites available for the annual event.

Five firemen will attend the fire training school Sunday in Wellsville.

The department will be host to the Tri-State Firemen's Association on May 25. Fifteen attended.

Would Gain 3 Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio would gain three federal judgeships under the bill passed Thursday by Congress and sent to the President. Two of the posts—one permanent and one temporary—would be created in northern Ohio. Another temporary judgeship would be created in southern Ohio. The bill provides for a total of 73 new judgeships.

LISBON — A 17-year-old Salem boy was sentenced and custody of another boy and two girls, all 15, was taken from their parents at a hearing Thursday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Vernon Etters, 17, who admitted to sealing a car in Salem and driving into West Virginia, where he stole two other cars, was sent to the Boys Industrial School in Lancaster until he reaches 18. He was just released from the industrial school March 15 after sentencing on another charge.

Custody of the other boy was given to the County Welfare Department for placement and the girls were turned over to a Youngstown charities organization for placement.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cuyahoga County grand jury Thursday returned an embezzlement indictment against Louis R. Fink, 59, former chief accountant in the Cleveland Utilities Department. he was charged with taking $517 of city money last January.

Terror Of Bloody Massacres

Eichmann Tied To Nazi Death Commando Plans

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — The terror of the "Einsatzgruppen," the Nazi death commandos who rounded up the Jews during World War II for bloody massacres, was resurrected today by prosecution witnesses in the trial of Adolf Eichmann.

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner told the court he had evidence that "Eichmann's department was in the very center of this plan."

An official report on the Einsatzgruppen activities in the Baltic, made by Eichmann's "old friend" Franz Walter Stahlbecker, was introduced by Hausner as evidence.

He said the report spoke of killing more than 100,000 Jews as if it were "speaking of the canning of sardines or of herring."

Testimony on an Einsatzgruppen operation in Poland came from Abraham Aviel, who said he was a boy of 14 when the Germans occupied his village near Radom, Poland.

"In April 1942, the Germans closed off the ghetto," Aviel said. "About 100 Jews were given spades and were marched off to the west. My father was in that group. After about half an hour we heard automatic weapons fired.

"We knew what was in store for us, but there was nothing we could do. Then a second group was marched off. This included my brother. I tried to join him. The Germans would not let me. Hours went by. I tried to hide my family in the attic."

Eventually, Aviel said, the Germans discovered his family and they all were marched out to join about 1,000 other Jews who were led away to a graveyard.

"When we got there, we were told to kneel, heads down.

"I was small so I could raise my head without being discovered. In front of me there was a large trench, about 30 yards long. People were made to undress on the edge of the trench. Then there was a machine gun burst.

"I saw a group of Jews digging graves. My brother was among them. I saw him. At that moment I thought, 'One must survive so he can tell what happened.'

"I jumped forward. I managed to reach the end of the road."

Aviel said he joined his brother on the grave-digging detail and succeeded in returning to the ghetto. A few days later the two fled to the woods where they met their father.

His father and brother were later killed as partisans, Aviel said.

Farmers In Beaver Reminded On Corn

Corn growers have until June 1 to sign up under the 1961 feed grain program, Mark Hilliker, chairman of the Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

The program provides for special payments to growers of corn who divert acreages this year from the production of corn to a soil-conserving use. Up to half the total payment to be earned on a farm may be made in advance if the farmer requests it.

In Beaver County, the average county rates are $38 per acre for reducing corn acreage a minimum of 20 per cent below the farm base acreage, and $45.70 per acre for reducing corn acreage from 20 to 40 per cent below the base. Rates on a farm may be higher or lower than the county rates, depending on the farm's productivity in relation to the county average.

Stolen Car Recovered

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—Authorities Thursday night recovered in Lancaster a car stolen from George C. Brown after the Hocking County farmer was dragged into his barn, gagged and bound. But no trace has been found of the two men who then got $100 in ransacking Brown's farm home five miles southwest of nearby Rockbridge early Thursday morning.

Pittsburgh Pair Will Get Hearing

Two Pittsburgh men, cited in Chester Thursday night on intoxication and traffic charges, are slated for hearings Monday night before Mayor Ray Collins in whose court one driver was fined and another forfeited bond Thursday.

James Robert Switzer of Pittsburgh was charged with driving while intoxicated and driving without a license by Patrolman Clarence Lennens on 1st St. last night.

Melvin Anderson, a passenger in Switzer's car, was arrested for intoxication. Both men are being held at the City Jail today.

Franklin Harley Matchett of Georgetown forfeited a $133.25 bond for driving while intoxicated and $55 for leaving the scene of an accident when he failed to appear for a hearing last night. He was cited April 27 after a mishap in Chester.

Early Smoot of Fairview Rd., cited for failure to have his car under control when it struck a Carolina Ave. home April 16, was fined $25 and costs.

The program would include construction of a 600-pupil high school at Pughtown to serve Northern Hancock County, a 1,000 - pupil high school and 300-pupil junior high school for Weirton, and a 300-pupil elementary school in Chester.

It also would provide funds for remodeling projects, including a $15,000 heating plant for Weir Junior High, windows for Weir High costing about $15,000, and remodeling of shower and locker rooms for Chester High and Wells High of Newell, estimated at $9000 each.

The new northern county high school would be erected for about $1,797,130 on a 96-acre tract on Gas Valley Rd., for sophomore, junior and senior pupils now attending schools in Chester, Newell and New Cumberland.

The new high schools, seen necessary by the County Board and OSU researchers to cope with a swelling enrollment, would be campus-style structures.

The polling sites listed by the Board of Education for Grant and Clay Districts in the northern portion of the county are:

GRANT DISTRICT

Precinct 1, Chester City Hall; Precinct 2, Chester Central School; Precinct 3, Chester High School; Precinct 4, Chester Washington School; Precinct 5, Grandview School; Precinct 6, Rock Springs Park in Chester; Precinct 7, Newell Jefferson School; Precinct 8, Wells High School in Newell, and Precinct 9, Tom Rennix's residence in Congo.

CLAY DISTRICT

Precinct 11, Thelma Phillip's residence on Hardins Run Rd.; Precinct 12, Squire John D. Herron's office, New Cumberland; Precinct 13, New Cumberland High School; Precinct 14, Mrs. Charles Finnicum's residence, 3rd Ave., New Cumberland; Precinct 15, Pughtown Elementary School.

The bond issue requires 60 per cent for approval.

Passage of the bond issue will not mean increased tax rates because the present rates would be extended for 20 years, the board has pointed out.

The rates will be the same as those now in affect, Class I property, 10½ cents on each $100 of assessed valuation; Class II, 21 cents, and Classes III and IV, 42 cents.

Polls in each of the county's 32 precincts will be open from 7:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m.

Salem Boy Receives Term For Auto Theft

LISBON — A 17-year-old Salem boy was sentenced and custody of another boy and two girls, all 15, was taken from their parents at a hearing Thursday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Vernon Etters, 17, who admitted to sealing a car in Salem and driving into West Virginia, where he stole two other cars, was sent to the Boys Industrial School in Lancaster until he reaches 18. He was just released from the industrial school March 15 after sentencing on another charge.

Custody of the other boy was given to the County Welfare Department for placement and the girls were turned over to a Youngstown charities organization for placement.

Terror Of Bloody Massacres

Eichmann Tied To Nazi Death Commando Plans

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — The terror of the "Einsatzgruppen," the Nazi death commandos who rounded up the Jews during World War II for bloody massacres, was resurrected today by prosecution witnesses in the trial of Adolf Eichmann.

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner told the court he had evidence that "Eichmann's department was in the very center of this plan."

An official report on the Einsatzgruppen activities in the Baltic, made by Eichmann's "old friend" Franz Walter Stahlbecker, was introduced by Hausner as evidence.

He said the report spoke of killing more than 100,000 Jews as if it were "speaking of the canning of sardines or of herring."

Testimony on an Einsatzgruppen operation in Poland came from Abraham Aviel, who said he was a boy of 14 when the Germans occupied his village near Radom, Poland.

"In April 1942, the Germans closed off the ghetto," Aviel said. "About 100 Jews were given spades and were marched off to the west. My father was in that group. After about half an hour we heard automatic weapons fired.

"We knew what was in store for us, but there was nothing we could do. Then a second group was marched off. This included my brother. I tried to join him. The Germans would not let me. Hours went by. I tried to hide my family in the attic."

Eventually, Aviel said, the Germans discovered his family and they all were marched out to join about 1,000 other Jews who were led away to a graveyard.

"When we got there, we were told to kneel, heads down.

"I was small so I could raise my head without being discovered. In front of me there was a large trench, about 30 yards long. People were made to undress on the edge of the trench. Then there was a machine gun burst.

"I saw a group of Jews digging graves. My brother was among them. I saw him. At that moment I thought, 'One must survive so he can tell what happened.'

"I jumped forward. I managed to reach the end of the road."

Aviel said he joined his brother on the grave-digging detail and succeeded in returning to the ghetto. A few days later the two fled to the woods where they met their father.

His father and brother were later killed as partisans, Aviel said.

Farmers In Beaver Reminded On Corn

Corn growers have until June 1 to sign up under the 1961 feed grain program, Mark Hilliker, chairman of the Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

The program provides for special payments to growers of corn who divert acreages this year from the production of corn to a soil-conserving use. Up to half the total payment to be earned on a farm may be made in advance if the farmer requests it.

In Beaver County, the average county rates are $38 per acre for reducing corn acreage a minimum of 20 per cent below the farm base acreage, and $45.70 per acre for reducing corn acreage from 20 to 40 per cent below the base. Rates on a farm may be higher or lower than the county rates, depending on the farm's productivity in relation to the county average.

Stolen Car Recovered

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—Authorities Thursday night recovered in Lancaster a car stolen from George C. Brown after the Hocking County farmer was dragged into his barn, gagged and bound. But no trace has been found of the two men who then got $100 in ransacking Brown's farm home five miles southwest of nearby Rockbridge early Thursday morning.

Pittsburgh Pair Will Get Hearing

Two Pittsburgh men, cited in Chester Thursday night on intoxication and traffic charges, are slated for hearings Monday night before Mayor Ray Collins in whose court one driver was fined and another forfeited bond Thursday.

James Robert Switzer of Pittsburgh was charged with driving while intoxicated and driving without a license by Patrolman Clarence Lennens on 1st St. last night.

Melvin Anderson, a passenger in Switzer's car, was arrested for intoxication. Both men are being held at the City Jail today.

Franklin Harley Matchett of Georgetown forfeited a $133.25 bond for driving while intoxicated and $55 for leaving the scene of an accident when he failed to appear for a hearing last night. He was cited April 27 after a mishap in Chester.

Early Smoot of Fairview Rd., cited for failure to have his car under control when it struck a Carolina Ave. home April 16, was fined $25 and costs.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

'Going Away View' Tests Slacks Wearer

Marlene Dietrich, that shapely movie star, was one of the first to wear feminine trousers, now called slacks. Alas, not all women who wear slacks look as well in them as La Dietrich, who has callipygian curves. It's the going-away view that makes the difference. That's the test proper: the going away view.

Ida Jean Kain

Slacks come in all sizes. The popular sizes are from 10 to 16, most popular being size 14. The hip measure for size 14 is 36 inches for slender hips and 38 inches for average hips.

The big problem with slacks on any size figure is the fact that the gluteus maximus, that bulky muscle on the back of the hips, is naturally fleshier on a woman than on a man. To wear slacks well, the hips should not measure more than 2 inches larger than the bust. Any more hip inches calls for special exercise.

THERE ARE HIP-slimming exercises to suit the variety of hip problems. Hips may jut out, bustle fashion; bow out on the sides, pear shaped; square off, window box fashion; or just spread. Choose your exercise accordingly.

The following exercises are guaranteed to improve your going-away view ... in slacks or a skirt. In all rolling exercises, the technique is to roll s-l-o-w-l-y and bring the weight to bear on the bulge. So, rock-a-bye baby.

Position: Lying on back, knees flexed, feet off floor arms out on floor at sides.

Movement: From that position, roll over to one thighline, back across the hips, and over to the other thighline, maneuvering so as to bring the weight to bear on the bulge. Roll 20 counts, relax and roll 20 more.

An exercise to fix the bustle:

Position: Sit on the floor, leaning backwards with hands out at sides to bring weight to bear on the padding.

Movement: Give yourself a push with one hand and roll across the hips and over on one side. Push again, and roll back across hips to other side. Roll back and forth 10 times as a starter. Gradually increase to 25 counts and, if you are up to it, to 50.

A straight roll solves as an all-around hip problem.

POSITION: Lying on back on floor, legs straight down, arms arched overhead.

Movement: Roll smoothly across hips to one thighline, back across hips to other thighline, slowly. Roll 25 counts, relax, and continue 25 counts.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Slim Hips In A Hurry." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

'Going Away View' Tests Slacks Wearer

Marlene Dietrich, that shapely movie star, was one of the first to wear feminine trousers, now called slacks. Alas, not all women who wear slacks look as well in them as La Dietrich, who has callipygian curves. It's the going-away view that makes the difference. That's the test proper: the going away view.

Ida Jean Kain

Slacks come in all sizes. The popular sizes are from 10 to 16, most popular being size 14. The hip measure for size 14 is 36 inches for slender hips and 38 inches for average hips.

The big problem with slacks on any size figure is the fact that the gluteus maximus, that bulky muscle on the back of the hips, is naturally fleshier on a woman than on a man. To wear slacks well, the hips should not measure more than 2 inches larger than the bust. Any more hip inches calls for special exercise.

THERE ARE HIP-slimming exercises to suit the variety of hip problems. Hips may jut out, bustle fashion; bow out on the sides, pear shaped; square off, window box fashion; or just spread. Choose your exercise accordingly.

The following exercises are guaranteed to improve your going-away view ... in slacks or a skirt. In all rolling exercises, the technique is to roll s-l-o-w-l-y and bring the weight to bear on the bulge. So, rock-a-bye baby.

Position: Lying on back, knees flexed, feet off floor arms out on floor at sides.

Movement: From that position, roll over to one thighline, back across the hips, and over to the other thighline, maneuvering so as to bring the weight to bear on the bulge. Roll 20 counts, relax and roll 20 more.

An exercise to fix the bustle:

Position: Sit on the floor, leaning backwards with hands out at sides to bring weight to bear on the padding.

Movement: Give yourself a push with one hand and roll across the hips and over on one side. Push again, and roll back across hips to other side. Roll back and forth 10 times as a starter. Gradually increase to 25 counts and, if you are up to it, to 50.

A straight roll solves as an all-around hip problem.

POSITION: Lying on back on floor, legs straight down, arms arched overhead.

Movement: Roll smoothly across hips to one thighline, back across hips to other thighline, slowly. Roll 25 counts, relax, and continue 25 counts.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Slim Hips In A Hurry." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

2 In Kidnap Case Shifted

Two men accused of the kidnap-robbery of a Newell motorist last month were turned over to the U. S. Marshal in Fairmont, W. Va., Thursday after transfer from Hagerstown, Md.

Harry John Senmbrakis, 27, of Chicago, and Constantinos Gimitrois Psihogois, 23, of Sardis are being held in the Marion County Jail in lieu of bond.

They are charged with the abduction of James E. Graham, 24, of 229 Washington St., Newell, on April 24.

Police said Graham picked up the two as hitchikers at E. 3rd St. and Broadway. As Graham drove across the Chester Bridge, one of the men pulled a revolver and ordered Graham to drive towards Pittsburgh.

However, they later forced Graham to drive to an isolated rural road near the intersection of Routes 30 and 168 in Beaver County, robbed him of $3, then drove away in his car, leaving the Newell man afoot.

They were captured by Maryland State Police in Hagerstown following a 13-state alert.

Hancock County authorities reported the FBI said both men are illegal immigrants from Greece. They were taken into custody in Maryland while driving Graham's 1958 Edsel two-door sedan.

Area Courthouse Toll Calls At End

A new switchboard went into operation Thursday afternoon in the Hancock County Courthouse in New Cumberland, eliminating toll calls to the county offices in the building from Chester, Newell and East Liverpool.

County Commissioners William C. Graham of Chester and James Finley initiated the new switchboard by calling on a conference circuit West Virginia Sen. Robert C. Byrd in Washington.

The new, toll-free direct line to the Courthouse may be used now by Chester, Newell and East Liverpool residents by dialing 385-1345, Commissioner Graham pointed out.

Miss Nola Fisher of New Cumberland, switchboard operator, will channel the incoming calls received at the switchboard to various county offices, including Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny, Assessor Tony Leon and Clerk Donald Stewart.

Weirton customers calling the Courthouse will ask their operator for 2631.

The Jaycees also are preparing a float, Chadwick said. The Wellsville and Lisbon Jaycees will have entries. The Jaycee Clowns and the Lisbon Jaycee clowns will perform along the parade route.

City officials and heads of area steel firms will ride in open convertibles. The East Liverpool police and fire departments, the State Highway Patrol and the sheriff's department will have vehicles in the procession.

The Jobs Daughters Bethel has entered a marching unit. The Bill Cassidy Majorettes and the Ronnie Boston Majorettes will perform.

Volunteer fire departments entered are Glenmoor, Liverpool Township West, Calcutta and Newell. Others are expected. The Civil Defense will have four units.

The Florists Association also is planning an entry, Chadwick said. Also entered are the Flying Wheels Motorcycle Club and the Boots & Saddle Club.

Chadwick reminded motorists that parking will be prohibited along the parade route. The Jaycees have made arrangements for parking at Westgate School and a free bus shuttle service will be operated between the parking lot and the Diamond from 4 to 9 p. m. Civil Defense police will guard the cars.

Chadwicks committee includes Delmar Manning, Robert Blankenship, Robert Lewis, Mike Roberts, Robert Brooks and Frank Potts.

Reservist Given Rank Of Major

John R. Ciccarelli, 623 Carolina Ave., Chester, active in the Army and Reserves for 19 years, has been promoted to major in the reserves, it was announced today.

An instructor at Westgate School, Maj. Ciccarelli served four years in World War II with the 85th Division, receiving a combat infantryman's badge and the Bronze Star for heroism in combat.

He entered the Reserves, and later served as intelligence officer on the staff of the former 739th Tank Battalion of Wheeling and later commander of the former Company B of the battalion at Chester.

Maj. Ciccarelli is currently serving as procurement officer for the 2006th Logistical Command B at Wheeling, according to his brother, M.Sgt. Angelo Ciccarelli of Chester, through whom the Army announcement was issued.

County Opposes House's TB Bill

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners, the Health Department and Tuberculosis Clinic went on record at the commissioners' meeting Thursday against House Bill 924. It would take the supervision of tuberculosis hospitals from the State Health Department and give them to Ohio State University.

licates and notification to the property holders.

Bell said the only way to speed the process would be to hire additional employes for an extra shift. He said the process has been proceeding "smoothly" so far.

Ferd Becker, chief of the state's Division of County Affairs, is due at Lisbon next Thursday and Friday for a field review of the work done so far.

Becker is also slated to speak at a luncheon meeting of the County School Administrators Friday. Becker may discuss the completion schedule with Bell.

Asked about the political implications of the reappraisal with its anticipated tax payment increase, Bell said there has been no "feet dragging" to keep the final effects from the public until after the 1962 fall election.

Bell, whose first term expires next year, declared he would rather get the whole project behind him, with all its hearings and paperwork, so he would have time to devote to his regular tasks and whatever campaigning he might plan.

Taxi, Auto Damaged In E. 5th St. Mishap

A collision at E. 5th St. and Apple Alley Thursday damaged an auto and a taxi, police reported.

The mishap involved a Veterans Cab Co. taxi operated by Douglas W. Reynolds, 34, of 131 E. 3rd St. and a 1957 sedan driven by Wirtie Wilson, 69, of Hoffman Estates, near Westfield, officers said. Both right doors of the taxi were damaged, but there was no damage to the auto, police said.

Reynolds told police he was driving west on E. 5th and started to make a right turn into Apple Alley when Wilson's car pulled from a parking place at the curb and hit the cab. Wilson told police his car was hit by the taxi.

Books Campaign To Be Concluded

The "Friends of the Library" of Beaver Local School District will launch the third and final effort in a campaign to provide the high school with 70,000 volumes Monday.

Some 25 women volunteers will conduct a house-to-house campaign for funds for the project which began in 1959.

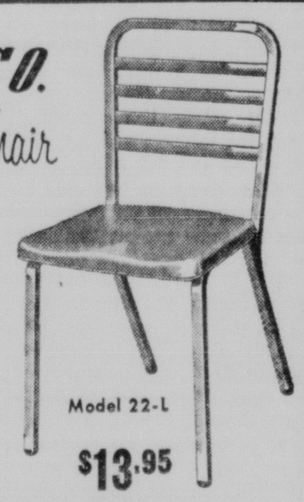

The first year over $1,500 was netted in the drive, and last year over $600. Since the project began, the high school library was built up from 1,300 books to 6,300, George VanHorne, executive head, said.

The Public School library was established, and now has 1,600 volumes. Funds for the project have been supplemented by Board of Education grants and Title 3 projects, VanHorne said.

2 In Kidnap Case Shifted

Two men accused of the kidnap-robbery of a Newell motorist last month were turned over to the U. S. Marshal in Fairmont, W. Va., Thursday after transfer from Hagerstown, Md.

Harry John Senmbrakis, 27, of Chicago, and Constantinos Gimitrois Psihogois, 23, of Sardis are being held in the Marion County Jail in lieu of bond.

They are charged with the abduction of James E. Graham, 24, of 229 Washington St., Newell, on April 24.

Police said Graham picked up the two as hitchikers at E. 3rd St. and Broadway. As Graham drove across the Chester Bridge, one of the men pulled a revolver and ordered Graham to drive towards Pittsburgh.

However, they later forced Graham to drive to an isolated rural road near the intersection of Routes 30 and 168 in Beaver County, robbed him of $3, then drove away in his car, leaving the Newell man afoot.

They were captured by Maryland State Police in Hagerstown following a 13-state alert.

Hancock County authorities reported the FBI said both men are illegal immigrants from Greece. They were taken into custody in Maryland while driving Graham's 1958 Edsel two-door sedan.

Area Courthouse Toll Calls At End

A new switchboard went into operation Thursday afternoon in the Hancock County Courthouse in New Cumberland, eliminating toll calls to the county offices in the building from Chester, Newell and East Liverpool.

County Commissioners William C. Graham of Chester and James Finley initiated the new switchboard by calling on a conference circuit West Virginia Sen. Robert C. Byrd in Washington.

The new, toll-free direct line to the Courthouse may be used now by Chester, Newell and East Liverpool residents by dialing 385-1345, Commissioner Graham pointed out.

Miss Nola Fisher of New Cumberland, switchboard operator, will channel the incoming calls received at the switchboard to various county offices, including Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny, Assessor Tony Leon and Clerk Donald Stewart.

Weirton customers calling the Courthouse will ask their operator for 2631.

The Jaycees also are preparing a float, Chadwick said. The Wellsville and Lisbon Jaycees will have entries. The Jaycee Clowns and the Lisbon Jaycee clowns will perform along the parade route.

City officials and heads of area steel firms will ride in open convertibles. The East Liverpool police and fire departments, the State Highway Patrol and the sheriff's department will have vehicles in the procession.

The Jobs Daughters Bethel has entered a marching unit. The Bill Cassidy Majorettes and the Ronnie Boston Majorettes will perform.

Volunteer fire departments entered are Glenmoor, Liverpool Township West, Calcutta and Newell. Others are expected. The Civil Defense will have four units.

The Florists Association also is planning an entry, Chadwick said. Also entered are the Flying Wheels Motorcycle Club and the Boots & Saddle Club.

Chadwick reminded motorists that parking will be prohibited along the parade route. The Jaycees have made arrangements for parking at Westgate School and a free bus shuttle service will be operated between the parking lot and the Diamond from 4 to 9 p. m. Civil Defense police will guard the cars.

Chadwicks committee includes Delmar Manning, Robert Blankenship, Robert Lewis, Mike Roberts, Robert Brooks and Frank Potts.

licates and notification to the property holders.

Bell said the only way to speed the process would be to hire additional employes for an extra shift. He said the process has been proceeding "smoothly" so far.

Ferd Becker, chief of the state's Division of County Affairs, is due at Lisbon next Thursday and Friday for a field review of the work done so far.

Becker is also slated to speak at a luncheon meeting of the County School Administrators Friday. Becker may discuss the completion schedule with Bell.

Asked about the political implications of the reappraisal with its anticipated tax payment increase, Bell said there has been no "feet dragging" to keep the final effects from the public until after the 1962 fall election.

Bell, whose first term expires next year, declared he would rather get the whole project behind him, with all its hearings and paperwork, so he would have time to devote to his regular tasks and whatever campaigning he might plan.

Taxi, Auto Damaged In E. 5th St. Mishap

A collision at E. 5th St. and Apple Alley Thursday damaged an auto and a taxi, police reported.

The mishap involved a Veterans Cab Co. taxi operated by Douglas W. Reynolds, 34, of 131 E. 3rd St. and a 1957 sedan driven by Wirtie Wilson, 69, of Hoffman Estates, near Westfield, officers said. Both right doors of the taxi were damaged, but there was no damage to the auto, police said.

Reynolds told police he was driving west on E. 5th and started to make a right turn into Apple Alley when Wilson's car pulled from a parking place at the curb and hit the cab. Wilson told police his car was hit by the taxi.

Books Campaign To Be Concluded

The "Friends of the Library" of Beaver Local School District will launch the third and final effort in a campaign to provide the high school with 70,000 volumes Monday.

Some 25 women volunteers will conduct a house-to-house campaign for funds for the project which began in 1959.

The first year over $1,500 was netted in the drive, and last year over $600. Since the project began, the high school library was built up from 1,300 books to 6,300, George VanHorne, executive head, said.

The Public School library was established, and now has 1,600 volumes. Funds for the project have been supplemented by Board of Education grants and Title 3 projects, VanHorne said.

Bringing Up A Family

Play Up Special Talent Of Laggard

Many parents whose child lags at school think first of some kind of punishment. It's amazing how many parents of lagging or failing children in junior or senior high school will sentence them to staying home for weeks or months, or deny them other cherished privileges. An Ohio mother writes of her son, 15: "I don't ask him to bring home above - average grades. But I do ask that he keep at least a C. He is barely getting through. "He has an 'I don't care attitude' or 'No one likes me'. One day he comes home storming about the teachers and the next day he doesn't say a thing.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"Every day I ask him what he has done in school and every day it is the same answer, 'Nothing'.

—:—

"HE IS WELL liked and has lots of friends. But after we took all his privileges away from him we only allowed him to leave the yard to go to lodge or church or his music lesson and he didn't even care.

"It is breaking my husband's heart, and at last he has given up even saying anything to him. But I can't give up, because I have an older son. He wasn't an A student, he was only average, but he had ambition and now he is head of the Chamber of Commerce in Ohio and will soon have a much larger Chamber as soon as he has attended his last semester of college at Ann Arbor.

"He is only 27 and one of the youngest Chamber executives in the States. He has a wonderful personality and should be a good example to Alfred.

"Alfred loves him dearly but he has no dream of ever coming close to Bob and I have never held Bob up as an example.

"Alfred reads everything on space and everything about the atoms and yet that is all it is worth."

—:—

HERE IS WHAT I wrote this mother:

I don't believe taking away your son's privileges, because of his low grades will solve the problem. However, his failure to go at his homework properly might respond to some discipline.

Since Alfred is so interested in the atomic age, try to find books and magazines for him on the subject, and encourage him to talk to you and Dad and other adults about it.

Just imagine what you and Dad could do if you two were to read and study with this lad on the subject he likes so much, not to mention the accruing satisfactions from companionship with him.

Even though you don't hold up his successful older brother, he must hear you and other relatives marvel about Bob. Perhaps Bob could do most by playing up the interests and successes of this younger brother.

Ruling Clarifies Insanity Pleas In Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH — A new rule for determining insanity as a defense in criminal cases in Pennsylvania has been outlined by a Philadelphia jurist in connection with an appeal filed by an Ohioan.

"The jury must be satisfied," Chief Judge John J. Biggs of the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals, said "that at the time of committing the prohibited act, the defendant, as a result of mental disease or defect, lacked substantial capacity to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law."

Judge Biggs termed "outdated" and a "sham" a 118-year-old rule used in most federal courts and many state courts that a defendant is to be considered sane if he knew the difference between right and wrong at the time of the crime.

Donald Currens, 22, of Mansfield was granted a new trial in connection with his alleged transportation of a stolen car from Mansfield to Pittsburgh.

Judge Biggs' rule goes beyond the recent Durham rule which he holds inadequate because it fails to provide the jury with sound facts regarding the defendant's mental condition.

The new rule goes farther than just permitting the testimony of a psychiatrist that the defendant suffered some mental disease or defect at the time of the crime.

Judge Biggs said such testimony is "significant only insofar as it indicates the extent to which the defendant lacked normal powers of control and choice at the time of the crime."

Area Designated For Help Of SBA

The East Liverpool-Salem and Steubenville-Weirton areas have a "substantial labor surplus" and are eligible for special Small Business Administration assistance programs, J. G. Garwick, regional SBA director announced today at Cleveland.

The two areas are among those on the latest list of the U. S. Department of Labor for "areas of substantial labor surplus." The Steubenville-Weirton area takes in Hancock and Brooke Counties in West Virginia and Jefferson in Ohio.

The special SBA programs include 4 per cent interest on loans to small firms and state and local development companies instead of 5½ per cent; a differential of 25 per cent in SBA's size standards for loans, procurement and production assistance, and priority handling of requests for financial, procurement and management assistance from small firms, Garwick said.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What is the best way to wash walls and wood trim?

A. Contrary to popular opinion, walls should be washed FROM the bottom UP. When water drips down on a soiled surface, it leaves streaks that are very difficult to remove. This will not stain a freshly washed wall. Use a soft sponge, and two pails of water—one with suds and the other with rinse water. And, very important, change your water frequently, because you cannot cleanse anything well with dirty water.

Q. How can I clean ivory and restore its whiteness?

A. Here's one usually - effective method: Take half of lemon, dip it into salt, and rub this over the discolored ivory. Wipe off immediately with a soft cloth.

Chester Fair Move Set To Permit Bingo

Transfer of the annual Chester firemen's fair from the City Park to Rock Springs Park — because of the ban of bingo inside the city limits — was authorized by the firemen Thursday night.

The fair will be held July 31-Aug. 5 at the amusement park just outside the city line, according to plans. Bingo, played for many years at the fund-raising fair of the volunteers, was ruled illegal by Mayor Ray Collins under the state code in 1960.

A conference on the legality of the game held earlier this year between the mayor and firemen ended with the mayor's decision to continue his stand against permitting it in the city.

Percy Willison, former councilman, was named last night as chairman of the bingo game.

The general fair committee includes Alton Johnson, chairman, Jerrold Wilson and Donald Hissam.

A contribution of $25 was authorized for the Chester High School post-prom party May 19. Plans were made to attend a fire school May 15-19 at New Cumberland.

Sanford Graham was enrolled as a regular firemen, completing a one-year probationary period. Plans were made to participate in a "Salute to Steel" parade in East Liverpool Saturday night.

Lunch was served 15 by Willard Enochs, Clarence Lennens and George Cowey. Fire Chief William Glover was in charge. Next meeting is June 1.

12 Half-Starved Cubans Under Security Wraps

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — U. S. officials kept 12 half-starved Cubans, believed to be survivors of the ill-fated Cuban invasion, under security wraps today.

Delirious and wild-eyed, the Cubans ended a 15-day voyage across the Gulf of Mexico in a 25-foot open sail boat Thursday.

Authorities hinted that newsmen might be allowed to talk to the men sometime today after a 24-hour quarantine ends.

They were picked up Wednesday night by the American tanker SS Atlantic Seaman about 170 miles south of the Mississippi River. Three of their companions were dead.

Officially classified as "refugees from Cuba," the 12 survivors were taken to the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital when they arrived in New Orleans after a trip up the Mississippi River in a Coast Guard boat.

They shielded their faces from newsmen and photographers.

Coast Guard Cmdr. Charles A. Greene said the boat left some part of Cuba on April 19, two days after the unsuccessful invasion party landed.

Nixon Heads West, Set To Rap Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon heads west today, ready for his first broadside attack on the Kennedy administration.

The former vice president has been reticent on what he intends to say about the man who barely beat him out of the White House. But his choice of topics for the next six days shows he will touch all political bases.

His schedule today called for a luncheon speech to the Executives Club of Chicago. Foreign policy, with what Nixon calls constructive suggestions, will be discussed.

Tonight he goes strictly political. He talks to the GOP Citizens League, in Chicago's McCormick Place Theatre, on how Republicans can build a more successful organization.

Ahead are talks on farm policy in Des Moines Saturday and on other domestic and economic issues in Detroit Tuesday and Columbus Wednesday.

Nixon spent Thursday in New York in a manner uncustomary for a politician: Nearly all of his time was behind closed doors.

After his conferences with former President Herbert Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur he gave reporters accounts of the subjects covered. But he also had private appointments that he didn't discuss.

And a dinner Thursday night, given by Gardner Cowles of the Cowles Publications, was off the record.

Realty Board Hears Executive Of Crucible

John Holt of Calcutta, recently appointed assistant to the vice president in charge of operations of the Crucible Steel Co., discussed the company's operations at the meeting of the East Liverpool Board of Realtors Tuesday night at the Travelers Hotel.

He pointed out Crucible is the largest company for the production of specialty steels, explaining the operations and the expenditure of funds to keep abreast of the latest developments.

Holt was introduced by George Bright, program chairman. Glen Wilson, president, presided.

Officers from several financial institutions were guests.

Jury Awards $10,000 For Land State Took

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury Thursday noon returned a verdict of $10,000 for a New Waterford area couple for land taken by the State Highway Department for improvement of Route 46 near New Waterford.

The 12 members of the jury concurred in awarding Charles M. and Helen Lindsay $3,000 for the land and $7,000 for damages to residue.

The Lindsays had refused the state's offer of $3,000 and set the value of their land at $22,000.

The trial began Monday before Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Congress Passes Bill To Create 73 Judgeships

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress Thursday passed and sent to the White House a bill to create 73 additional federal judgeships.

The House approved the measure first and the Senate quickly followed, both by voice vote.

In the House, passage followed a plea by Republicans that President Kennedy avoid partisanship in appointing the new judges, 10 in the circuit courts and 63 in the district courts.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, agreed the judgeships should not be prizes for deserving Democrats.

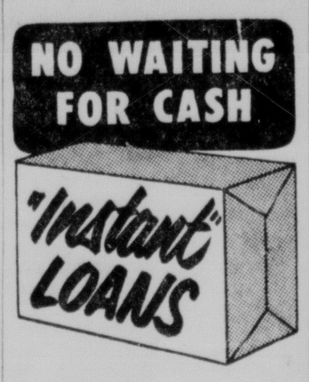

He added: "Being a realist, candor impels me to say that being a Democrat will not hurt one's chances for appointment."

The bill was worked out in final form in a Senate-House conference. The House had originally provided for 70 new judgeships.

Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors led the National Basketball Association in rebounds last season, averaging 27.2 per game.

Trailer Rig Hits City Man's Car

A car driven by a city man was heavily damaged when struck in the rear by a semi-trailer truck on Route 7 early Thursday afternoon about four miles south of Rogers. The rig also damaged a Rogers area man's car, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

The rig, operated by Robert Shockley, 31, of Fremont was headed north when it came upon a halted auto operated by John W. Brown, 44, of 524 Williams Ave. — stopped because of road repairs for which a crewman had flagged him down.

The truck struck the rear of Brown's car, then went left of center and sideswiped a southbound auto operated by Frank Lewis, 52, of Rogers.

Damage to both cars was considerable, according to officers, who cited Shockley for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Reds' Drive Seen Shifting To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The major Communist drive for control of Southeast Asia is reported shifting from Laos to South Viet Nam, with the prospect of a prolonged struggle. Both the Soviet Union and the United States are involved to some degree.

Even before a cease-fire in Laos is nailed down, there is renewed talk in official quarters here of the possible use of U. S. forces in Southeast Asia primarily because of the determined Communist effort through guerrilla warfare to overthrow the South Viet Nam government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

The issue is a matter of grave concern within the administration and could be one of the subjects up for discussion at a National Security Council meeting at the White House today.

President Kennedy has an opportunity at a news conference later in the day to set forth his views on the newly developing crisis.

Kennedy conferred Thursday night with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright said after the meeting that in his judgment the administration stands ready to offer direct support to Diem's forces if that becomes necessary to block Red conquest of the Southeast Asian country.

Fulbright also endorsed the use of U. S. military force, if necessary to support either South Viet Nam or Thailand, which is a U.S. ally in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Both countries border Laos.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Thursday that Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam now number 12,000 men. They are supported by Communist North Viet Nam.

He said the northern forces have undoubtedly been equipped and strengthened by the Soviet Union.

Rusk was asked what the U. S. response would be if the Diem government requested direct arms intervention by American troops. He said he did not want to give a flat answer to the question, then added: "But there will be a very strong effort made now to reinforce that situation there and give them every possible help —across the entire spectrum, in which help is needed."

Dr. Veatch spoke on "The Weeds In Our Lives," which he listed as being "the lack of convictions, honesty and concern." "We need more sincere, dedicated people," he said.

Installed by the state officer were Mrs. Anthony DiBart, president; Mrs. Charles Wagner, first vice president; Mrs. Frank Koldziejski, second vice president; Mrs. Claudius Ford, third vice president; Mrs. Ted Cwiczynski, secretary, and George Campbell, treasurer.

Certificates awards for PTA membership sales were presented by Wilbur Bickmyer of Wheeling, state membership chairman, to Fort Jefferson, Weir High, Cove, Dunbar, Newell Jefferson, Liberty, Marland Heights, Pughtown and Weirton Heights schools.

Awards for sale of the PTA magazines were presented the Cove and Marland Heights schools.

Trailer Rig Hits City Man's Car

A car driven by a city man was heavily damaged when struck in the rear by a semi-trailer truck on Route 7 early Thursday afternoon about four miles south of Rogers. The rig also damaged a Rogers area man's car, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

The rig, operated by Robert Shockley, 31, of Fremont was headed north when it came upon a halted auto operated by John W. Brown, 44, of 524 Williams Ave. — stopped because of road repairs for which a crewman had flagged him down.

The truck struck the rear of Brown's car, then went left of center and sideswiped a southbound auto operated by Frank Lewis, 52, of Rogers.

Damage to both cars was considerable, according to officers, who cited Shockley for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Place lamb on a rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in 325 degree oven for 1½ hours. Combine mustard, brown sugar, lemon - lime carbonated beverage, horseradish and Worcestershire. Mix well. (If desired, reserve ½ cup of mixture to use as sauce for rice.) Spoon about one-third of mustard mixture over lamb.

Bake for about 1½ hours longer until meat thermometer registers 170 degrees to 180 degrees (depending on desired degree of doneness). Occasionally spoon remaining mustard mixture over lamb during baking. Heat reserved mustard-glaze and serve over hot fluffy white rice.

Mustard-Glazed Lamb Has Tangy Flavor

If you find yourself intrigued by the lure of far-away places, why not capture your imagination in a meal with a foreign flavor?

The delicate yet distinct flavor of lamb lends itself especially well to adventures and experimentations in flavor combinations.

One of our favorites is to baste a boned, rolled lamb shoulder roast with a bold-flavored but delectable mustard glaze. The glaze highlights the appearance of glaze highlights the appearance of the exterior of the roast and gives it an unusual taste lift.

1 (3 to 4 pound) boned shoulder of lamb rolled and tied
1 (8-ounce) jar brown prepared mustard
½ cup brown sugar
1 (7-ounce) bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage
2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Place lamb on a rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in 325 degree oven for 1½ hours. Combine mustard, brown sugar, lemon - lime carbonated beverage, horseradish and Worcestershire. Mix well. (If desired, reserve ½ cup of mixture to use as sauce for rice.) Spoon about one-third of mustard mixture over lamb.

Bake for about 1½ hours longer until meat thermometer registers 170 degrees to 180 degrees (depending on desired degree of doneness). Occasionally spoon remaining mustard mixture over lamb during baking. Heat reserved mustard-glaze and serve over hot fluffy white rice.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: This may sound like a stupid question but how can I stop my mother-in-law from shopping for me? She has picked out draperies, lamps, party dresses for my children and she even bought my Easter hat.

The hat is what really teed me off. I had in mind a white straw sailor to go with my navy suit but she selected a basket style which looks like a crazy, mixed-up garden. To set the record straight, these are not gifts, they are all charged to my account.

My husband says if I criticize her taste she will be offended. He also thinks it's nice that she has something to do with her spare time. I say if she's looking for something to do with her spare time, she could sit with my kids and give me an afternoon off so I could go shopping and buy what I like.

How about this? Am I right or do you feel I should say nothing and keep the peace?—JEAN.

Dear Jean: I see no reason why you should sit silently by and let your mother-in-law charge things you don't want to your account.

Somewhere along the line you must develop the maturity to hand back the purchases and say, "This is lovely, dear, but it's not what I had in mind." Then ask her if she'd be good enough to return it for you. After awhile she'll get the pitch.

Browbeaten Wife

Dear Ann: My husband and I are the same age, 22. I feel like 100. We've been married almost four years and we have two children.

He never gives me any money to buy clothes. He says I don't need clothes because I don't go any place. Well, he's right about that. But he goes plenty.

Every Friday he takes off for fishing or hunting — whatever is in season. He spends money on equipment, motors, boats, anything he wants. If I get mad he says I have a rotten temper and he even has slapped me a few times.

What can I do to get him to treat me like a wife?—BROWBEATEN.

Dear Brow: According to my arithmetic, you grabbed this bargain when he was 18 years old. It's no wonder you're having trouble. He wasn't ready to settle down and he's proving it.

Insist that he go with you to a marriage counselor or a clergyman and get this mess back on the track. He's bound by law to support you and it's time someone reminded him of his moral and legal responsibility.

Retraction

Dear Ann: Your recent advice that a man of questionable character seek out a single girl or a nice widow as a means of breaking away from a woman of doubtful background moves me to write.

The single girls can speak for themselves; I speak as a widow. And since "the woods are full of 'em," as Ann Landers says I'll bet many of them will agree with me.

We widows who have come through a period of shattering grief and learned how to compromise and live alone are not interested in starting a training school for ne'er-do-wells.

If we had a good marriage, we wouldn't dream of insulting the memory of a fine husband by letting a bum succeed him. If our marriage was not a good one we know how rough such a life can be and we wouldn't make THAT mistake again.—WIDOW.

Dear Widow: I've had the same response from many widows. You've persuaded me I was dead wrong.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cleveland Area Man Dies From Car Fumes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Anthony Corrao, 23, was found dead today, apparently of carbon monoxide fumes, at his home in suburban Warrensville Heights.

A member of the family said fumes from the car, in the garage, penetrated into the house. Corrao's mother, Mrs. Helen Carrao, 44, and sister, Sandra, 21, were treated at Suburban Community Hospital for inhalation of fumes.

Man's Body Found

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP)—The body of Anthony Geise, 68, of nearby Fort Loramie was found in the water of a gravel pit south of that community Thursday. The Shelby County coroner gave a tentative ruling of accidental drowning. Sheriff Robert Gearhart said Geise, a retired farmer, may have slipped while walking along the edge of the pit.

Negro Honored With High Post At N. Carolina U.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—A Negro student has achieved the highest honor at the University of North Carolina Law School.

Julius LeVonne Chambers, 24, a rising senior from Mount Gilead, has been named editor in chief of the North Carolina Law Review.

It is the first time a Negro has won such an honor at the University of North Carolina and is believed to be the first time in the South that a Negro student has been so honored at a predominantly white college or university.

The decision by the UNC Law School faculty was announced April 28. The university's official announcement made no mention of his race.

When asked today about his race, Dean Henry Brandis Jr., told Charlotte News reporter Julian Scheer: "I have had my statement prepared for a long time. It is just three words—'he earned it!'"

Chambers, one of four Negroes in the 314-student school, is top man scholastically in his class of 100. He has an A average.

Scholastic standing, writing ability and achievement on the law review staff in the first two years of law school are criteria for selection of an editor in chief.

The student editorial board recommends to a faculty group eight rising seniors for the post. The faculty selects four as principal editors. The student board picks two of the four for final consideration and the faculty then makes the ultimate choice.

Hurt In Explosion

Retraction

Dear Ann: Your recent advice that a man of questionable character seek out a single girl or a nice widow as a means of breaking away from a woman of doubtful background moves me to write.

The single girls can speak for themselves; I speak as a widow. And since "the woods are full of 'em," as Ann Landers says I'll bet many of them will agree with me.

We widows who have come through a period of shattering grief and learned how to compromise and live alone are not interested in starting a training school for ne'er-do-wells.

If we had a good marriage, we wouldn't dream of insulting the memory of a fine husband by letting a bum succeed him. If our marriage was not a good one we know how rough such a life can be and we wouldn't make THAT mistake again.—WIDOW.

Dear Widow: I've had the same response from many widows. You've persuaded me I was dead wrong.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cleveland Area Man Dies From Car Fumes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Anthony Corrao, 23, was found dead today, apparently of carbon monoxide fumes, at his home in suburban Warrensville Heights.

A member of the family said fumes from the car, in the garage, penetrated into the house. Corrao's mother, Mrs. Helen Carrao, 44, and sister, Sandra, 21, were treated at Suburban Community Hospital for inhalation of fumes.

Man's Body Found

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP)—The body of Anthony Geise, 68, of nearby Fort Loramie was found in the water of a gravel pit south of that community Thursday. The Shelby County coroner gave a tentative ruling of accidental drowning. Sheriff Robert Gearhart said Geise, a retired farmer, may have slipped while walking along the edge of the pit.

Negro Honored With High Post At N. Carolina U.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—A Negro student has achieved the highest honor at the University of North Carolina Law School.

Julius LeVonne Chambers, 24, a rising senior from Mount Gilead, has been named editor in chief of the North Carolina Law Review.

It is the first time a Negro has won such an honor at the University of North Carolina and is believed to be the first time in the South that a Negro student has been so honored at a predominantly white college or university.

The decision by the UNC Law School faculty was announced April 28. The university's official announcement made no mention of his race.

When asked today about his race, Dean Henry Brandis Jr., told Charlotte News reporter Julian Scheer: "I have had my statement prepared for a long time. It is just three words—'he earned it!'"

Chambers, one of four Negroes in the 314-student school, is top man scholastically in his class of 100. He has an A average.

Scholastic standing, writing ability and achievement on the law review staff in the first two years of law school are criteria for selection of an editor in chief.

The student editorial board recommends to a faculty group eight rising seniors for the post. The faculty selects four as principal editors. The student board picks two of the four for final consideration and the faculty then makes the ultimate choice.

3 Outstanding Cagers . . .

Three outstanding cagers from East Liverpool and Wellsville are almost certain of attending colleges which play big-time basketball.

Kenny Miller, the Potters' outside man last season, and Wellsville's outstanding athlete, Bob Kiggans, visited Duquesne University last week and were impressed with the treatment they received at the Pittsburgh school.

Miller seems to have a choice of two schools — Toledo University and Duquesne.

Duquesne also is interested in Kiggans, but so is The Citadel, a military school at Charleston, S. C., which is referred to as "the West Point of the South."

The Citadel plays a big league schedule in basketball and football. The southern school has its doors open to the Wellsville star, who excels in basketball, football and is an outstanding high jumper in track.

Kenny Cunningham continues to visit schools, but last weekend he received a genuine offer for basketball from the top college basketball school in the nation this past year — Cincinnati — the NCAA champ.

Coach Ed Jucker is definitely sold on Cunningham and has been hot on the telephone wire. If Cunningham goes to Cincinnati, he would concentrate his efforts on basketball only.

SKIP HALL, the tough all-around tackle for the Potter football team last season, was one of the gridders from the area who visited the University of Colorado last weekend.

Skip and several gridders from the Beaver Valley were flown to Boulder, Colo., by private plane. Colorado offered the Potter product a full scholarship, but he hasn't given the school a definite answer so far.

Give Shantz A Chance? . . .

WE CAN'T criticize Danny Murtaugh, who called all the shots in 1960 to pilot the Pittsburgh Pirates to a World Series title, but we would like to ask this question: When will Bobby Shantz get his chance? (and we are not trying to be poetic).

Murtaugh continues to rely on his old standbys from last season. There isn't anything wrong with that, but other than a few innings in the first week of the season Shantz has been doing his National League hurling in the Buc bullpen.

The statistics show Shantz has appeared in three of the 17 games played so far, but has hurled only 5 1-3 innings, giving up six hits, striking out four and walking one.

Just when we think the ex-Yankee will be called in, Murtaugh goes to Elroy Face or Clem Labine. Nothing against either right-hander, for they are two of the toughest in the league.

Wilmer Mizell was going along smoothly with his left-handed offerings Wednesday night at St. Louis and it certainly wasn't his fault when the error by Smokey Burgess upset the applecart.

We figured, however, since a southpaw had been effective against the Cards that Shantz would be brought in when Murtaugh decided to lift Mizell for a pinch hitter. But again we were wrong.

We feel Shantz is a capable pitcher. He was the only player Pittsburgh added to the club during the winter.

Springfield–Which One? . . .

WHEN SPRINGFIELD is mentioned around Beaver Local High School these days, the first question asked is which one?

A funny story was brought to light this week. It seems that each time the Beaver Local baseball team is scheduled to meet Springfield something happens.

This week Coach Flody Suarez took his baseball team to Springfield High, the one near Petersburg, Ohio, in Mahoning County. When they arrived, Springfield was already playing a league game with Greenford and Beaver Local returned home due to the mixup in scheduling.

A year ago, Beaver Local was scheduled to meet the same Springfield. Jack O'Rourke, Beaver Local football and wrestling coach, volunteered to drive the bus for the baseball team.

O'Rourke was thinking of Springfield High near Amsterdam in Jefferson County. Suarez, who hails from Clarksburg, W. Va., wasn't too familiar with this territory.

O'Rourke told Suarez of a short-cut and the trip was well under way when Suarez questioned, "Are you sure you are going the right way?" O'Rourke assured him that he was.

They arrived at the wrong Springfield High, realized the mistake and doubled back for the right Springfield.

Suarez said, "We played the game that day but lost. The kids were too bus sick."

Skipping Around . . .

SHORT SHOTS: Stanton Local is about ready to name its new football coach. We understand the man for the job has already been chosen. . . WHEN "Bing" Newton resigned as head basketball coach at Fairfield - Waterford this week, it brought the total of head coaching positions which have opened up in the district to four, the others being Stanton Local and East Palestine in football and Beaver Local in basketball. . . OUR PICK in the Kentucky Derby is Carry Back, that is if the Cleveland horse can catch Crozier. The race is one-quarter mile longer than the Derby trial when Crozier established a new track record. Carry Back defeated Crozier in three previous outings. . . WHEELING DOWNS is getting prepared for its 32-night spring meeting which opens May 26. . .

BERNIE ALLEN went 3-for-7 in a doubleheader which Purdue split with Northwestern over the weekend. Two of Bernie's safeties were triples. We hear the baseball scouts are slipping in and out of Lafayette talking with the East Liverpool diamond star. So far the Boston Red Sox and Boston Patriots have the inside track for a baseball-football packaged deal. . JOHN HAVLICEK, a star performer for the Ohio State basketball squad, is hitting a lusty .323 for the Buckeye nine. Big John plays first base. . OF THE freshmen prospects which Woody Hayes feels could be a factor in the 1961 Ohio State football season, all are from Ohio with the exception of Matt Snell, a 205-pound halfback candidate from Long Island, N. Y.

Adcock's Slam Beats LA

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Jay pitched a one-hit shutout—giving up a first-inning single by Johnny Callison—and allowed only two men to reach base as the Cincinnati Reds defeated Philadelphia 4-0 Thursday night for their fifth straight victory. San Francisco padded its National League lead to a full game over idle Pittsburgh by beating the Chicago Cubs 9-3.

Joe Adcock's bases-loaded home run gave Milwaukee a 10-6 victory over Los Angeles in 10 innings in the only other game scheduled in the NL.

Jay, 25, is a Little League graduate who had a 24-24 record, including a two-hitter and one three-hitter, in seven seasons with Milwaukee. He was traded to the Reds for shortstop Roy McMillan last December.

The Reds scored in two-run bursts in the first and third innings off Art Mahaffey (2-2), who allowed seven hits and five walks.

Carl Willey (1-0), the fourth Milwaukee pitcher to follow starter Bob Buhl, won it.

A five-run sixth inning gave it to the Giants, who came from behind on Orlando Cepeda's two-run single off loser Glen Hobbie (1-3). Sam Jones (3-1) went all the way for the Giants.

FOR A FELLOW who has just pitched a one-hit game you might expect a bigger smile, but that is Joey Jay. The stoic-faced Red hurries taking his uniform off as the club was getting ready in the clubhouse to leave for a three-game series in Milwaukee. Jay blanked the Phillies, 4-0. (UPI Telephoto)

Bing Newton Resigns Post At Fairfield

Another Columbiana County coach, on the heels of a winning season, has resigned. Bing Newton, head coach in basketball and track at Fairfield-Waterford, has submitted his resignation to be effective at the end of the school year.

The resignation comes after Newton's team posted a 14-5 mark during the 1960-61 season.

The Leetonia graduate would like to remain in coaching and is "looking" for a larger school.

His three-year record at Fairfield-Waterford was 31 victories and 28 defeats. He served two years as an assistant coach before being named to the head coaching job in 1958.

Newton is a graduate of Kent State University.

15 Expected To Be At Post In 87th Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Johnny Longden, who has been in the winner's circle more times than any other jockey, is leaving nothing to chance in a bid for his second Kentucky Derby victory.

At 54, an age when others would gladly retire to the rocking chair or shift to a less hazardous occupation, Johnny is as active as his youthful rivals who'll join him in piloting 15 finely-tuned 3-year-old horses over 1¼ miles at Churchill Downs Saturday in quest of fame and fortune.

Longden, winner of 5,509 races in his 34-year career, will be astride the well regarded Four-and-Twenty when the field breaks from the barrier at 5:30 p. m. Eastern Daylight Time. Four-and-Twenty is the better liked half of the Canadian entry from the Alberta Ranches of Frank McMahon and Max Bell. The other half is Flutterby and both are trained by Johnny's son, Vance, 31.

Carry Back, three times conquerer of Crozier in Florida last winter, remained the 5-2 choice. But Crozier rapidly picking up support off his blazing 1:34 3-5 Derby Trial mile Tuesday was held at 3-1.

Sherluck (6-1), Ethel D. Jacobs' stretch-running Dr. Miller (10-1) and Globemaster (12-1) were the only other horses given much consideration.

If all 15 parade to the post the race will gross $163,000 with $120,500 going to the winner.

2-Hitter By Mossi Keeps Detroit Up

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit southpaw Don Mossi won his third without defeat by pitching a two-hitter for a 6-0 decision at Washington Thursday night. That kept the Tigers in a tie with New York for the American League lead after the Yankees had beaten Minnesota 5-2 in an afternoon game.

In the only other AL game scheduled, Baltimore defeated Los Angeles 8-7 in 13 innings on Ron Hansen's two-run single.

Mossi, 31, walked three and struck out five in the best performance of his eight-year career, which has included a trio of three-hitters. He had a no-hit game until Gene Green singled with two out in the seventh inning. The other hit, also a single, was by Willie Tasby with two out in the ninth.

The Tigers handed winless Benny Daniels his third defeat.

Mickey Mantle blasted his ninth home run, tops in the majors, for the Yankees, but it was a three-run first inning that sent the defending champs to their seventh victory in the last eight games. Two walks, Mantle's single and an infield out scored the first two runs and Elston Howard's single brought in the clincher. Whitey Ford (4-1) was the winner, but withdrew due to the effects of a cold and Jim Coates came on for a one-hit, shutout mop-up over the last three frames. Jim Kaat (1-2) was the loser.

Hansen drove in four runs for the Orioles, who twice came from three runs behind, and triggered the ninth-inning rally with a one-on homer. His winning single, off reliever Ned Garver (0-2), followed a walk and a double by Gus Triandos, who also belted a two-run homer. Reliever Hoyt Wilhelm won his fourth.

THE OTHER DAY

Bob Redmond

We got to talking about the wheel, and how much of civilization, ancient and modern, hinges on its development. The earliest known wheels were found on the remains of chariots that dated back to 3500 B. C. in Mesopotania (or inner Asia). But apparently European civilization did not know of them for another 2500 years. One might say that the wheel marked the beginning of ancient civilization and had untold effect upon all further progress. It appears that the water wheel had its beginning in about 2500 B. C. also in Mesopotania, which gave man his first physical power greater than his arms and legs. Our earliest records idicate the first Windmill (another derivative of the wheel) was invented about 1000 A.D. in Persia, and no drastic improvements in it were made until the beginning of our own century. It seems that virtually all of man's great advances have been made in our own times. Incidentally, our business depends upon providing you with the best possible wheels and then keeping them turning smoothly and economically for you. But here you won't find any "Big Wheels" . . . we're just plain folks, eager to serve you faithfully and economically.

Pittsburgh Dentist Is Found Guilty In Bribery Attempt

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The defense attorney says he does not plan to appeal the conviction of a dentist on charges of trying to bribe two University of Pittsburgh basketball players.

Atty. Louis C. Glasse made the statement Thursday after a jury convicted his client, Dr. Edward H. Sebastian, 33, of nearby Stowe Twp., on two counts of bribery of an athletic contest.

Visiting Judge Samuel J. Roberts of Erie County, who presided at the Allegheny County Criminal Court trial, deferred sentencing pending a pre-sentence investigation requested by Glasse. The offense carries a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine on each count.

It was the second time that Sebastian was convicted of the charge. He was convicted by Visiting Judge Ethan A. Gearhart of Lehigh County in a non-jury trial last September, but the court later granted him a jury trial.

Sebastian formerly an instructor at the Pitt Dental School, was accused of trying to get basketball players John Fridley and Dick Falenski to shave points in Pitt games during the 1959 season so that Sebastian could win bets.

The players testified that Sebastian promised them money, scholarships and admission to dental school if they cooperated. Fridley said Sebastian also offered to split his winnings with them.

Sebastian testified that the players tried to use him to gain admission to dental school.

Sebastian was permitted to remain free on $2,500 bond pending sentencing.

Johnny Sellers, Carry Back's regular jockey, first rode at Churchill Downs in 1955.

Pittsburgh Dentist Is Found Guilty In Bribery Attempt

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The defense attorney says he does not plan to appeal the conviction of a dentist on charges of trying to bribe two University of Pittsburgh basketball players.

Atty. Louis C. Glasse made the statement Thursday after a jury convicted his client, Dr. Edward H. Sebastian, 33, of nearby Stowe Twp., on two counts of bribery of an athletic contest.

Visiting Judge Samuel J. Roberts of Erie County, who presided at the Allegheny County Criminal Court trial, deferred sentencing pending a pre-sentence investigation requested by Glasse. The offense carries a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine on each count.

It was the second time that Sebastian was convicted of the charge. He was convicted by Visiting Judge Ethan A. Gearhart of Lehigh County in a non-jury trial last September, but the court later granted him a jury trial.

Sebastian formerly an instructor at the Pitt Dental School, was accused of trying to get basketball players John Fridley and Dick Falenski to shave points in Pitt games during the 1959 season so that Sebastian could win bets.

The players testified that Sebastian promised them money, scholarships and admission to dental school if they cooperated. Fridley said Sebastian also offered to split his winnings with them.

Sebastian testified that the players tried to use him to gain admission to dental school.

Sebastian was permitted to remain free on $2,500 bond pending sentencing.

Adcock's Slam Beats LA

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Jay pitched a one-hit shutout—giving up a first-inning single by Johnny Callison—and allowed only two men to reach base as the Cincinnati Reds defeated Philadelphia 4-0 Thursday night for their fifth straight victory. San Francisco padded its National League lead to a full game over idle Pittsburgh by beating the Chicago Cubs 9-3.

Joe Adcock's bases-loaded home run gave Milwaukee a 10-6 victory over Los Angeles in 10 innings in the only other game scheduled in the NL.

Jay, 25, is a Little League graduate who had a 24-24 record, including a two-hitter and one three-hitter, in seven seasons with Milwaukee. He was traded to the Reds for shortstop Roy McMillan last December.

The Reds scored in two-run bursts in the first and third innings off Art Mahaffey (2-2), who allowed seven hits and five walks.

Adcock's slam, the eighth of his career, capped a five-run 10th off loser Jim Golden (1-1). John Roseboro homered for the Dodgers, who blew a 4-1 lead behind starter Don Drysdale.

Carl Willey (1-0), the fourth Milwaukee pitcher to follow starter Bob Buhl, won it.

A five-run sixth inning gave it to the Giants, who came from behind on Orlando Cepeda's two-run single off loser Glen Hobbie (1-3). Sam Jones (3-1) went all the way for the Giants.

15 Expected To Be At Post In 87th Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Johnny Longden, who has been in the winner's circle more times than any other jockey, is leaving nothing to chance in a bid for his second Kentucky Derby victory.

At 54, an age when others would gladly retire to the rocking chair or shift to a less hazardous occupation, Johnny is as active as his youthful rivals who'll join him in piloting 15 finely-tuned 3-year-old horses over 1¼ miles at Churchill Downs Saturday in quest of fame and fortune.

Longden, winner of 5,509 races in his 34-year career, will be astride the well regarded Four-and-Twenty when the field breaks from the barrier at 5:30 p. m. Eastern Daylight Time. Four-and-Twenty is the better liked half of the Canadian entry from the Alberta Ranches of Frank McMahon and Max Bell. The other half is Flutterby and both are trained by Johnny's son, Vance, 31.

Carry Back, three times conquerer of Crozier in Florida last winter, remained the 5-2 choice. But Crozier rapidly picking up support off his blazing 1:34 3-5 Derby Trial mile Tuesday was held at 3-1.

Sherluck (6-1), Ethel D. Jacobs' stretch-running Dr. Miller (10-1) and Globemaster (12-1) were the only other horses given much consideration.

If all 15 parade to the post the race will gross $163,000 with $120,500 going to the winner.

2-Hitter By Mossi Keeps Detroit Up

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit southpaw Don Mossi won his third without defeat by pitching a two-hitter for a 6-0 decision at Washington Thursday night. That kept the Tigers in a tie with New York for the American League lead after the Yankees had beaten Minnesota 5-2 in an afternoon game.

In the only other AL game scheduled, Baltimore defeated Los Angeles 8-7 in 13 innings on Ron Hansen's two-run single.

Mossi, 31, walked three and struck out five in the best performance of his eight-year career, which has included a trio of three-hitters. He had a no-hit game until Gene Green singled with two out in the seventh inning. The other hit, also a single, was by Willie Tasby with two out in the ninth.

The Tigers handed winless Benny Daniels his third defeat.

Mickey Mantle blasted his ninth home run, tops in the majors, for the Yankees, but it was a three-run first inning that sent the defending champs to their seventh victory in the last eight games. Two walks, Mantle's single and an infield out scored the first two runs and Elston Howard's single brought in the clincher. Whitey Ford (4-1) was the winner, but withdrew due to the effects of a cold and Jim Coates came on for a one-hit, shutout mop-up over the last three frames. Jim Kaat (1-2) was the loser.

Hansen drove in four runs for the Orioles, who twice came from three runs behind, and triggered the ninth-inning rally with a one-on homer. His winning single, off reliever Ned Garver (0-2), followed a walk and a double by Gus Triandos, who also belted a two-run homer. Reliever Hoyt Wilhelm won his fourth.

Bing Newton Resigns Post At Fairfield

Another Columbiana County coach, on the heels of a winning season, has resigned. Bing Newton, head coach in basketball and track at Fairfield-Waterford, has submitted his resignation to be effective at the end of the school year.

The resignation comes after Newton's team posted a 14-5 mark during the 1960-61 season.

The Leetonia graduate would like to remain in coaching and is "looking" for a larger school.

His three-year record at Fairfield-Waterford was 31 victories and 28 defeats. He served two years as an assistant coach before being named to the head coaching job in 1958.

Newton is a graduate of Kent State University.

We got to talking about the wheel, and how much of civilization, ancient and modern, hinges on its development. The earliest known wheels were found on the remains of chariots that dated back to 3500 B. C. in Mesopotania (or inner Asia). But apparently European civilization did not know of them for another 2500 years. One might say that the wheel marked the beginning of ancient civilization and had untold effect upon all further progress. It appears that the water wheel had its beginning in about 2500 B. C. also in Mesopotania, which gave man his first physical power greater than his arms and legs. Our earliest records idicate the first Windmill (another derivative of the wheel) was invented about 1000 A.D. in Persia, and no drastic improvements in it were made until the beginning of our own century. It seems that virtually all of man's great advances have been made in our own times. Incidentally, our business depends upon providing you with the best possible wheels and then keeping them turning smoothly and economically for you. But here you won't find any "Big Wheels" . . . we're just plain folks, eager to serve you faithfully and economically.

Hebert Moves Into Early Lead In Las Vegas Event

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Good looking Jay Hebert, one of the most popular players in professional golf, led the parade into the second round of the $52,000 Tournament of Champions today.

Hebert, who admittedly is still taking lessons on the skills of proper shot making, demonstrated he has studied well when he fired a 6-under par 66 in the first round.

Playing against a select field of 25 rivals and bucking shifting winds that blew up to 40 miles an hour, Hebert toured the par 36-36 — 72 Desert Inn Country Club course Thursday in 33-33—66.

So today he held a lead of one stroke over his fellow pros for the $10,000 top money. The 72-hole event winds up Sunday.

Pressing Hebert at 67 were three other seasoned performers—Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford and Julius Boros.

And tied at 68 were Sam Snead and Bill Casper Jr., and if they weren't enough to give the pace setter cause for worry, the 69 bracket included Arnold Palmer, Art Wall Jr., and Stan Leonard.

South Africa's Gary Player, the 1961 Masters champion, and Doug Sanders posed a threat at 70.

Five players were tied at 71 in the group of 16 which bettered par. They were Gene Littler, Dow Finsterwald, Bill Collins, Don Fairfield and Bill Johnston.

Hebert, a native of Lafayette, La., candidly says he is still learning things about the game of golf.

His round Thursday included two eagles and three birdies—and thanks to the blustery wind, he started out poorly in his tee shots.

But at the end he had required only 30 putts and had missed but two greens.

Jay Hebert 33-33—66
Tommy Bolt 34-34—67
Doug Ford 33-34—67
Sam Snead 35-33—68
Bill Casper Jr. 35-33—68
Arnold Palmer 35-34—69
Art Wall Jr. 34-35—69
Stan Leonard 34-35—69
Gary Player 36-34—70
Doug Sanders 36-34—70
Dow Finsterwald 34-37—71 (tied with four others).

Ohio's High School Coaches Ready For Battle To Keep All-Star Games

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school football coaches are ready to put up a fight to keep their North-South all-star game as an annual fixture.

The Rebel-Yankee fray, scheduled Aug. 11 at Canton, will die after this year unless it receives official sanction of the Ohio High School Athletic Association. The NCAA has ruled that boys participating in unsanctioned all-star games will lose a year of college eligibility, so approval by the state board of control is mandatory if the contest is to continue.

The board of directors of the more than 1,100 scholastic mentors here for Ohio State's annual two-day grid clinic argued far into Thursday night on means to persuade the board to grant approval. The state group has puts its O.K. on this year's fray, but declined to approve games after this year.

Basketball coaches, in the same fix relative to their all-star game slated June 17 at Cuyahoga Falls, are cooperating with the football mentors in trying to sway the state board.

Dave Martin, football coach at Cuyahoga Falls, said he could see no reason for banning the games since "all the participating boys have finished their high school careers, no school time is lost, no one is hurt, and the benefits to the boys are enormous. Many boys, as a result of their appearance in the all-star games, have been given college scholarships they would not have received otherwise."

Just what the coaches intend to do was left up in the air—but one possibility is to ask the state board to request a vote on the matter by the state's high school principals. Such a referendum could override the state board.

At Thursday night's session Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon was elected president of the football coaches, succeeding George Hardie of Youngstown Woodrow Wilson. Carl (Ducky) Schroeder of Massillon was named secretary-treasurer for the 15th straight year.

In balloting today the coaches will name Martin as first vice president, and choose between Glenn (Tiger) Ellison of Middletown and D. L. DeCenzo of Westerville as second vice president. Directors in eight of the state's 16 districts also will be selected.

Jim Robinson of Canton, director of the all-star game, said the Southern coaching staff would be made up of Jim Eby of Dayton Colonel White, Bob Wion of Martins Ferry, Jim Dudding of Jackson, and Jacques Laughlin of Harrison.

The Northern coaches are Tony Mason of Niles, Ralph Robinette of Youngstown Rayen, Bill Wilkins of Shelby, and Glenn Smith of Fremont St. Joseph.

Eby, who took over the head Rebel job when Lou Juillerat of Troy moved into the collegiate field at Findlay, requested permission of the directors to install his own quarterback on the South squad. His plea was turned down, the board saying all all-star squad vacancies must be filled by alternates picked in the December voting.

Durbin Sets Broad Jump Record At Toronto Meet

Beaver Local's Mike Durbin turned in his top performance of the season Thursday night when he shattered a broad jump record in the Toronto Invitational meet.

Durbin's jump of 21 feet is a new record for the meet and Toronto Stadium. He also placed fourth in the 100-yard dash to account for all of Beaver Local's 8¼ points.

Steubenville Big Red won the 12-team meet under the lights with 42 3-5. Wellsburg was a close second with 41 while host Toronto came home third with 38¼ points.

Wellsville, paced by high jumping Bob Kiggans and Bill Hickman, placed fifth in the meet. The Tigers tallied 20 points mainly on the efforts of Kiggans who tied for first place in the high jump going 5-feet-10. Hickman captured first place in the low hurdles in a time of 22.4.

Sportsmen Club At Midland Sets Shoot Sunday

The Midland Sportsmen Club will conduct their regular shoot Sunday at the club grounds north of Midland.

Last Sunday Earl Gilbert of East Liverpool finished in the runnerup spot by breaking 93 targets in the club's first ATA registered shoot. Tom Fleming of Sewickley took the 16-yard event with a score of 97.

In the handicap event, Fleming and Nick Chomo of Toronto tied with a 42 for first place. Chuck Berg of Pittsburgh was one behind with a 41.

Fleming also captured the doubles event with 46 out of 50. Francis Galioto of Midland and H. M. Harris of Weirton tied for second place with scores of 36 out of 50.

Pittsburgh Pirate pitchers made only one balk in 1960.

Chester Wins Fifth, 3-To-1, At Madonna

Gary Pugh and his Chester teammates squeezed out a 3-1 victory at Weirton Madonna Thursday afternoon.

A tight pitcher's battle developed as Pugh and Weirton's Tisch and Bradley gave up only three hits each.

Chester pushed across its first run in the third inning on a single by Jim Tridico. The Panthers came back to score what proved to be the winning margin in the seventh when they came up with two more runs.

Wildness hit Pugh in the seventh inning when he gave up three walks and a hit to spoil his shutout. He fanned nine in going the distance.

Smith and Sayre collected Chester's other safeties.

The victory pushed Coach Don Amedeo's team to a 5-4 record.

Dodgers Get Farrell From Philadelphia

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers have obtained relief pitcher Dick Farrell in a trade with Philadelphia, but Dodger Manager Walter Alston isn't making any predictions about how much Farrell will help his club's pennant chances.

"We'll have to wait and see about this," Alston said Thursday night after the Dodgers arrived in town for a three-game series against Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers Thursday sent outfielder Don Demeter and infielder Charlie Smith to the Phillies for Farrell and infielder Joe Koppe.

Alston explained, "We needed a little more help in the bullpen. It has been a little overworked. Ed Roebuck is out and we want Larry Sherry to have more help."

Farrell, a right-hander, had a 10-6 record in 59 appearances with the Phillies in 1960. He was credited with 15 additional saves and posted a 2.71 earned run average.

In Philadelphia, John Quinn, general manager of the Phillies said, "Demeter is one of the finest fielding centerfielders around and he might have 20 home runs in him."

He added Smith has "real good power and he may be the answer to our third base problems."

Demeter, 25, missed most of last year bceause of a fractured wrist. He hit .274 and had nine home runs.

Smith hit .322 and 20 home runs at Spokane.

Celestial Lea, a half-brother to Bally Ache, is trained by Jimmy Pitt.

Piersall, Francona Set To Return In Outfield

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two of the Cleveland Indians' regular outfielders are expected back in action tonight when the Tribe opens a four-game home series with the Washington Senators.

The probable returnees are centerfielder Jim Piersall and leftfielder Tito Francona, but the status of rightfielder Willie Kirkland is in doubt.

If Kirkland is out, Manager Jimmie Dykes can use Joe Morgan, Don Dillard or Walter Bond, who filled in for the regulars—sidelined by the flu—during the two-game series with Chicago.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli (0-2) will make his fourth try for his first American League victory. He will be opposed by Washington's Ed Hobaugh, who has an 0-1 record.

Antonelli pitched well against the Senators in his first start April 16 in Washington, but was lifted after seven innings with the Nats leading 2-0. Cleveland went on to win, 3-2.

"Antonelli looked pretty much the same against us as he did in the National League last year," said Mickey Vernon, the Washington manager who was a coach with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1960. "He finesses you, cutes you. He knows how to pitch, but he doesn't have that real fast one anymore."

The Indians have a three-game winning streak, their longest of the season, after beating the White Sox here Tuesday and Wednesday nights. They were idle Thursday.

Second baseman Johnny Temple, leading the majors with a .422 average, takes an 18-game hitting streak into tonight's game.

Musial Slated To Play Regular In Near Future

By CHUCK CAPALDO
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Except for two fruitless pinchhitting appearances, veteran Stan Musial has been riding the St. Louis Cardinals' bench since April 26.

Is his benching indefinite? Like last year when he sat and fidgeted for a month starting May 27, leading many to believe the great hitter's career had come to an ingtorious end?

Not at all, says Redbird Manager Solly Hemus.

"He'll be playing again in the near future."

Last year, Hemus explained, he started Musial, 40, a few games at a time and then gave him a rest.

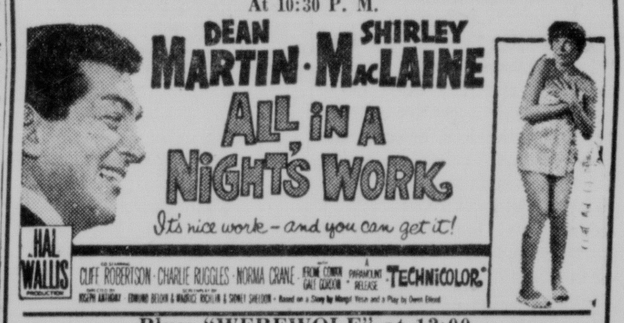

"Stan was in and out and it didn't work," Hemus said. "In spring training I decided to try a different system, play him two or three weeks at a time and then rest him for a week or so, not just play him here and there."

Ham Shoot Scheduled

The West Point Rod and Game Club will hold a ham shoot Sunday beginning at 1:30 p. m. at its range on Route 30 at West Point.

Hebert Moves Into Early Lead In Las Vegas Event

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Good looking Jay Hebert, one of the most popular players in professional golf, led the parade into the second round of the $52,000 Tournament of Champions today.

Hebert, who admittedly is still taking lessons on the skills of proper shot making, demonstrated he has studied well when he fired a 6-under par 66 in the first round.

Playing against a select field of 25 rivals and bucking shifting winds that blew up to 40 miles an hour, Hebert toured the par 36-36 — 72 Desert Inn Country Club course Thursday in 33-33—66.

So today he held a lead of one stroke over his fellow pros for the $10,000 top money. The 72-hole event winds up Sunday.

Pressing Hebert at 67 were three other seasoned performers—Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford and Julius Boros.

And tied at 68 were Sam Snead and Bill Casper Jr., and if they weren't enough to give the pace setter cause for worry, the 69 bracket included Arnold Palmer, Art Wall Jr., and Stan Leonard.

South Africa's Gary Player, the 1961 Masters champion, and Doug Sanders posed a threat at 70.

Five players were tied at 71 in the group of 16 which bettered par. They were Gene Littler, Dow Finsterwald, Bill Collins, Don Fairfield and Bill Johnston.

Hebert, a native of Lafayette, La., candidly says he is still learning things about the game of golf.

His round Thursday included two eagles and three birdies—and thanks to the blustery wind, he started out poorly in his tee shots.

But at the end he had required only 30 putts and had missed but two greens.

Jay Hebert 33-33—66
Tommy Bolt 34-34—67
Doug Ford 33-34—67
Sam Snead 35-33—68
Bill Casper Jr. 35-33—68
Arnold Palmer 35-34—69
Art Wall Jr. 34-35—69
Stan Leonard 34-35—69
Gary Player 36-34—70
Doug Sanders 36-34—70
Dow Finsterwald 34-37—71 (tied with four others).

Sportsmen Club At Midland Sets Shoot Sunday

The Midland Sportsmen Club will conduct their regular shoot Sunday at the club grounds north of Midland.

Last Sunday Earl Gilbert of East Liverpool finished in the runnerup spot by breaking 93 targets in the club's first ATA registered shoot. Tom Fleming of Sewickley took the 16-yard event with a score of 97.

In the handicap event, Fleming and Nick Chomo of Toronto tied with a 42 for first place. Chuck Berg of Pittsburgh was one behind with a 41.

Fleming also captured the doubles event with 46 out of 50. Francis Galioto of Midland and H. M. Harris of Weirton tied for second place with scores of 36 out of 50.

Pittsburgh Pirate pitchers made only one balk in 1960.

Ohio's High School Coaches Ready For Battle To Keep All-Star Games

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school football coaches are ready to put up a fight to keep their North-South all-star game as an annual fixture.

The Rebel-Yankee fray, scheduled Aug. 11 at Canton, will die after this year unless it receives official sanction of the Ohio High School Athletic Association. The NCAA has ruled that boys participating in unsanctioned all-star games will lose a year of college eligibility, so approval by the state board of control is mandatory if the contest is to continue.

The board of directors of the more than 1,100 scholastic mentors here for Ohio State's annual two-day grid clinic argued far into Thursday night on means to persuade the board to grant approval. The state group has puts its O.K. on this year's fray, but declined to approve games after this year.

Basketball coaches, in the same fix relative to their all-star game slated June 17 at Cuyahoga Falls, are cooperating with the football mentors in trying to sway the state board.

Dave Martin, football coach at Cuyahoga Falls, said he could see no reason for banning the games since "all the participating boys have finished their high school careers, no school time is lost, no one is hurt, and the benefits to the boys are enormous. Many boys, as a result of their appearance in the all-star games, have been given college scholarships they would not have received otherwise."

Just what the coaches intend to do was left up in the air—but one possibility is to ask the state board to request a vote on the matter by the state's high school principals. Such a referendum could override the state board.

At Thursday night's session Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon was elected president of the football coaches, succeeding George Hardie of Youngstown Woodrow Wilson. Carl (Ducky) Schroeder of Massillon was named secretary-treasurer for the 15th straight year.

In balloting today the coaches will name Martin as first vice president, and choose between Glenn (Tiger) Ellison of Middletown and D. L. DeCenzo of Westerville as second vice president. Directors in eight of the state's 16 districts also will be selected.

Jim Robinson of Canton, director of the all-star game, said the Southern coaching staff would be made up of Jim Eby of Dayton Colonel White, Bob Wion of Martins Ferry, Jim Dudding of Jackson, and Jacques Laughlin of Harrison.

The Northern coaches are Tony Mason of Niles, Ralph Robinette of Youngstown Rayen, Bill Wilkins of Shelby, and Glenn Smith of Fremont St. Joseph.

Eby, who took over the head Rebel job when Lou Juillerat of Troy moved into the collegiate field at Findlay, requested permission of the directors to install his own quarterback on the South squad. His plea was turned down, the board saying all all-star squad vacancies must be filled by alternates picked in the December voting.

Durbin Sets Broad Jump Record At Toronto Meet

Beaver Local's Mike Durbin turned in his top performance of the season Thursday night when he shattered a broad jump record in the Toronto Invitational meet.

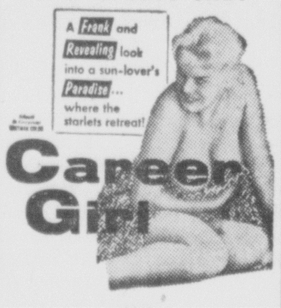

Durbin's jump of 21 feet is a new record for the meet and Toronto Stadium. He also placed fourth in the 100-yard dash to account for all of Beaver Local's 8¼ points.

Steubenville Big Red won the 12-team meet under the lights with 42 3-5. Wellsburg was a close second with 41 while host Toronto came home third with 38¼ points.

Wellsville, paced by high jumping Bob Kiggans and Bill Hickman, placed fifth in the meet. The Tigers tallied 20 points mainly on the efforts of Kiggans who tied for first place in the high jump going 5-feet-10. Hickman captured first place in the low hurdles in a time of 22.4.

Chester Wins Fifth, 3-To-1, At Madonna

Gary Pugh and his Chester teammates squeezed out a 3-1 victory at Weirton Madonna Thursday afternoon.

A tight pitcher's battle developed as Pugh and Weirton's Tisch and Bradley gave up only three hits each.

Chester pushed across its first run in the third inning on a single by Jim Tridico. The Panthers came back to score what proved to be the winning margin in the seventh when they came up with two more runs.

Wildness hit Pugh in the seventh inning when he gave up three walks and a hit to spoil his shutout. He fanned nine in going the distance.

Smith and Sayre collected Chester's other safeties.

The victory pushed Coach Don Amedeo's team to a 5-4 record.

Piersall, Francona Set To Return In Outfield

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two of the Cleveland Indians' regular outfielders are expected back in action tonight when the Tribe opens a four-game home series with the Washington Senators.

The probable returnees are centerfielder Jim Piersall and leftfielder Tito Francona, but the status of rightfielder Willie Kirkland is in doubt.

If Kirkland is out, Manager Jimmie Dykes can use Joe Morgan, Don Dillard or Walter Bond, who filled in for the regulars—sidelined by the flu—during the two-game series with Chicago.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli (0-2) will make his fourth try for his first American League victory. He will be opposed by Washington's Ed Hobaugh, who has an 0-1 record.

Antonelli pitched well against the Senators in his first start April 16 in Washington, but was lifted after seven innings with the Nats leading 2-0. Cleveland went on to win, 3-2.

"Antonelli looked pretty much the same against us as he did in the National League last year," said Mickey Vernon, the Washington manager who was a coach with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1960. "He finesses you, cutes you. He knows how to pitch, but he doesn't have that real fast one anymore."

The Indians have a three-game winning streak, their longest of the season, after beating the White Sox here Tuesday and Wednesday nights. They were idle Thursday.

Second baseman Johnny Temple, leading the majors with a .422 average, takes an 18-game hitting streak into tonight's game.

Musial Slated To Play Regular In Near Future

By CHUCK CAPALDO
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Except for two fruitless pinchhitting appearances, veteran Stan Musial has been riding the St. Louis Cardinals' bench since April 26.

Is his benching indefinite? Like last year when he sat and fidgeted for a month starting May 27, leading many to believe the great hitter's career had come to an ingtorious end?

Not at all, says Redbird Manager Solly Hemus.

"He'll be playing again in the near future."

Last year, Hemus explained, he started Musial, 40, a few games at a time and then gave him a rest.

"Stan was in and out and it didn't work," Hemus said. "In spring training I decided to try a different system, play him two or three weeks at a time and then rest him for a week or so, not just play him here and there."

Ham Shoot Scheduled

The West Point Rod and Game Club will hold a ham shoot Sunday beginning at 1:30 p. m. at its range on Route 30 at West Point.

Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers hurled a two-hitter and a three-hitter last season.

Dodgers Get Farrell From Philadelphia

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers have obtained relief pitcher Dick Farrell in a trade with Philadelphia, but Dodger Manager Walter Alston isn't making any predictions about how much Farrell will help his club's pennant chances.

"We'll have to wait and see about this," Alston said Thursday night after the Dodgers arrived in town for a three-game series against Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers Thursday sent outfielder Don Demeter and infielder Charlie Smith to the Phillies for Farrell and infielder Joe Koppe.

Alston explained, "We needed a little more help in the bullpen. It has been a little overworked. Ed Roebuck is out and we want Larry Sherry to have more help."

Farrell, a right-hander, had a 10-6 record in 59 appearances with the Phillies in 1960. He was credited with 15 additional saves and posted a 2.71 earned run average.

In Philadelphia, John Quinn, general manager of the Phillies said, "Demeter is one of the finest fielding centerfielders around and he might have 20 home runs in him."

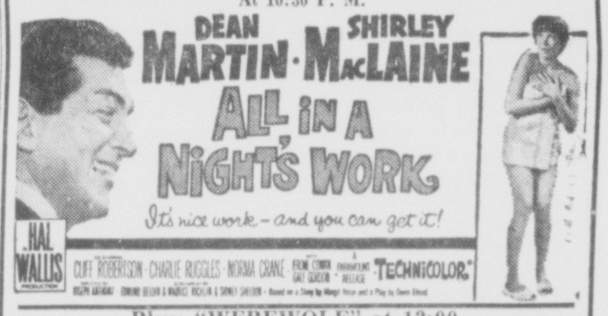

He added Smith has "real good power and he may be the answer to our third base problems."

Demeter, 25, missed most of last year because of a fractured wrist. He hit .274 and had nine home runs.

Smith hit .322 and 20 home runs at Spokane.

Celestial Lea, a half-brother to Bally Ache, is trained by Jimmy Pitt.

A Year Of Unimaginative Shows

The lack of excitement and originality on our TV screens in the past year is certainly evident in the Emmy nominations announced this week.

Hal Humphrey

When names such as Fred Astaire, Ingrid Bergman, Maurice Evans, Bob Hope, Benny, Ed Wynn, Loretta Young and Robert Stack are again leading contenders for Emmy awards, it's a sign of stagnation. It isn't that Miss Bergman didn't acquit herself admirably in "24 Hours in a Woman's Life" on CBS last March, nor that the Messrs. Hope, Benny and Astaire weren't equally deserving.

But the nominations each year are beginning to read like the cast of a series of summer repeats.

WHY SHOULDN'T the Hall of Fame's production of "Macbeth" receive nominations in five of the 24 Emmy categories if it is deserving, you ask? The only other nominees in the best drama category are "Naked City," "Twilight Zone," "The Untouchables" and "Sacco-Vanzetti."

Barring the two-part "Sacco-Vanzetti" drama of last June, which really was more of a documentary, that isn't much competition for "Macbeth," is it?

Of the five nominations for "Achievement in the Field of Humor" there are three new contenders: "Andy Griffith Show," "Candid Camera" and "The Flintstones," but actually none of the three can be considered a threat to nominees Bob Hope and Jack Benny, who have been on TV since the 10-inch screen.

-:-

IN A CATEGORY labeled "Program of the Year" the nominations include "Astaire Time," "Convention Coverage," "An Hour With Danny Kaye," "Macbeth" and "Sacco-Vanzetti."

Here again, it seems to me that members of the Academy of TV Arts and Sciences must have found the pickings awfully lean, or maybe their memories aren't too good.

Why weren't the Kennedy-Nixon "Great Debates" considered for that category? The three major networks had a greater creative hand in those four debates than they did with either of the political conventions.

It's a little-admitted fact, of course, that the TV Academy membersnip sees less television than almost anybody. Many of them work into the night on their own shows, and even if they get home early not many are in a mood to watch TV.

THIS YEAR the 5,000 members received a "Reminder Bulletin" listing 44 pages of TV programs. Assuming they had enough time to pore through this prodigious list, how is the voter to make up his mind if he has seen only a handful of the shows?

For example, on April 22, 1960 (that's last year), the now-defunct "Playhouse 90" series did an excellent play by Roger Hirson titled "Journey to the Day." Any program shown between April 1, 1960, and April 15, 1961, is eligible, which means "Journey to the Day" qualiifed. But how many members recalled it, I wonder?

Mary Astor, Janice Rule, Steve Hill and James Dunn all turned in performances of Emmy stature in "Journey to the Day" (A drama about group psychiatric treatment in a mental institution) and the story itself was far superior to the glorified soap opera which Miss Bergman was caught up in.

But Miss Bergman's show was seen this March, and Miss Bergman has a name.

MAYBE TV hasn't been quite so lackluster the past year as the Emmy nominations seem to reflect. Occasionally we had guest appearances by such bright new comics as Elaine May and Mike Nichols, Jonathan Winters, Shelley Berman, Joey Bishop and Mort Sahl.

In my opinion the syndicated Jim Backus Show is far funnier than most of the situation comedies on TV, but it was overlooked, too.

Unless the TV Academy can educate its membership to be more conscientious about watching the medium, and at the same time inspire the networks to feel more sharply their responsibility for quality and experimentation, then Miss Emmy is going to be one from-hunger dame soon.

Partially Blind Girl Killed In Hit-Run

CLEVELAND (AP) — Deborah Dove, a 7-year-old partially blind girl, was struck down by a hit-and-run motorist near her West Side home Thursday. She told her astonished mother Thursday night she could see far better. Eye specialists at Metropolitan General Hospital were to examine Deborah today to see if the impact somehow improved her eyesight.

Police arrested a 66 - year - old West Side man, but he denied he was the driver. Detectives were searching his car for possible clues after a witness took down the license plate of the hit-skip car. The girl suffered a broken left leg and head bruises.

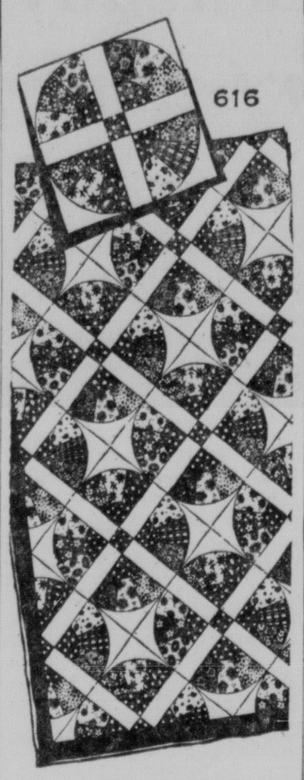

Hepatitis Rise Noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Winslow J. Bashe of the Ohio Health Department says incidence of infectious hepatitis is rising so markedly that there have been 2,000 cases of the disease, also known as yellow jaundice, reported in the state this year, against 2,700 reported during all of 1960.

Navy Recruiter, Local Man Meet Again In Kansas

Two men who first met in the Navy Recruiting Station at City Hall as prospective enlistee and recruiter are together again at the Naval Air Station in Olathe, Kans., this time as seaman apprentice and lieutenant, junior grade.

When William Bowen, son of Mrs. Thelma M. Bowen, 508 E. 5th St., first went to the recruiting station to inquire about Navy duty in 1959, he talked with Chief Machinery Repairman Lloyd O. Fox, recruiter in charge. However, he did not enlist until August 1960.

Bowen recently was assigned to the Olathe base and found his division officer was the same man who had been the recruiter in East Liverpool. Fox left East Liverpool when he was advanced to warrant officer in the fall of 1959.

He moved up to ensign the following June and became a lieutenant, junior grade, in December.

Bowen's younger brother, Richard B. Bowen, is at home on 14 days recruit leave after completing nine weeks of training at Great Lakes, Ill. When his leave expires May 19, he will report to the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla.

Sees Rail Mergers

CINCINNATI (AP) — Railroad mergers are an inevitable prelude to railroad nationalization, George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, told a conference of his group Thursday. Harrison said the mergers will eliminate about 200,000 jobs on the railroads.

Goose Flesh Explained

Q. What is the medical explanation for goose flesh?

A. At the base of each hair there is a bundle of muscle fibers. An oil-secreting gland is situated between the muscle and the hair root. When we are frightened or exposed to cold, the hair muscle contracts, squeezing oil from the gland and pulling the hair upright. The muscle action puckers the hair gland so that it stands out conspicuously as in the goose (goose flesh).

Prostatic Enlargement

Q. What causes enlargement of the prostate?

A. Enlargement occurs in prostatic cancer but the gland may also enlarge in later life without evidence of cancer. This is called benign (non-cancerous) enlargement. The cause of benign enlargement is not known, but it is not believed to be related to sex habits.

Asthma And Odors

Q. Can attacks of asthma be brought on by odors?

A. Yes. An estimated 15 per cent of asthmatics are affected by odors.

Animal Infections

Q. Do dogs and cats contract human diseases?

A. Dogs and cats are resistant to most human diseases, a notable exception being the relative ease with which kittens are infected with the diphtheria germ. Dogs can acquire from man the germs which cause scarlet fever, diphtheria and tuberculosis. Cats can acquire tuberculosis from close contact with infected humans. Domestic animals are also subject to certain human viral diseases, but information about this is sketchy.

A Year Of Unimaginative Shows

The lack of excitement and originality on our TV screens in the past year is certainly evident in the Emmy nominations announced this week.

Hal Humphrey

When names such as Fred Astaire, Ingrid Bergman, Maurice Evans, Bob Hope, Benny, Ed Wynn, Loretta Young and Robert Stack are again leading contenders for Emmy awards, it's a sign of stagnation. It isn't that Miss Bergman didn't acquit herself admirably in "24 Hours in a Woman's Life" on CBS last March, nor that the Messrs. Hope, Benny and Astaire weren't equally deserving.

But the nominations each year are beginning to read like the cast of a series of summer repeats.

WHY SHOULDN'T the Hall of Fame's production of "Macbeth" receive nominations in five of the 24 Emmy categories if it is deserving, you ask? The only other nominees in the best drama category are "Naked City," "Twilight Zone," "The Untouchables" and "Sacco-Vanzetti."

Barring the two-part "Sacco-Vanzetti" drama of last June, which really was more of a documentary, that isn't much competition for "Macbeth," is it?

Of the five nominations for "Achievement in the Field of Humor" there are three new contenders: "Andy Griffith Show," "Candid Camera" and "The Flintstones," but actually none of the three can be considered a threat to nominees Bob Hope and Jack Benny, who have been on TV since the 10-inch screen.

-:-

IN A CATEGORY labeled "Program of the Year" the nominations include "Astaire Time," "Convention Coverage," "An Hour With Danny Kaye," "Macbeth" and "Sacco-Vanzetti."

Here again, it seems to me that members of the Academy of TV Arts and Sciences must have found the pickings awfully lean, or maybe their memories aren't too good.

Why weren't the Kennedy-Nixon "Great Debates" considered for that category? The three major networks had a greater creative hand in those four debates than they did with either of the political conventions.

It's a little-admitted fact, of course, that the TV Academy membersnip sees less television than almost anybody. Many of them work into the night on their own shows, and even if they get home early not many are in a mood to watch TV.

THIS YEAR the 5,000 members received a "Reminder Bulletin" listing 44 pages of TV programs. Assuming they had enough time to pore through this prodigious list, how is the voter to make up his mind if he has seen only a handful of the shows?

For example, on April 22, 1960 (that's last year), the now-defunct "Playhouse 90" series did an excellent play by Roger Hirson titled "Journey to the Day." Any program shown between April 1, 1960, and April 15, 1961, is eligible, which means "Journey to the Day" qualiifed. But how many members recalled it, I wonder?

Mary Astor, Janice Rule, Steve Hill and James Dunn all turned in performances of Emmy stature in "Journey to the Day" (A drama about group psychiatric treatment in a mental institution) and the story itself was far superior to the glorified soap opera which Miss Bergman was caught up in.

But Miss Bergman's show was seen this March, and Miss Bergman has a name.

MAYBE TV hasn't been quite so lackluster the past year as the Emmy nominations seem to reflect. Occasionally we had guest appearances by such bright new comics as Elaine May and Mike Nichols, Jonathan Winters, Shelley Berman, Joey Bishop and Mort Sahl.

In my opinion the syndicated Jim Backus Show is far funnier than most of the situation comedies on TV, but it was overlooked, too.

Unless the TV Academy can educate its membership to be more conscientious about watching the medium, and at the same time inspire the networks to feel more sharply their responsibility for quality and experimentation, then Miss Emmy is going to be one from-hunger dame soon.

Partially Blind Girl Killed In Hit-Run

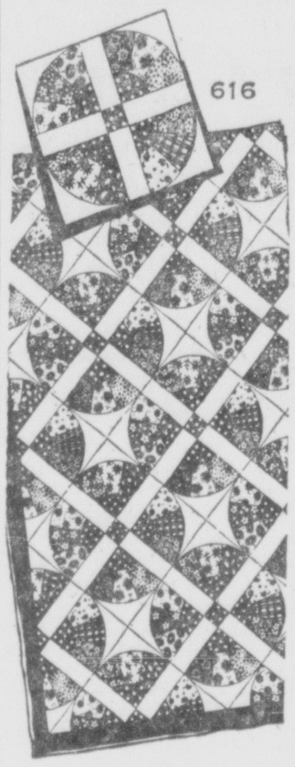

CLEVELAND (AP) — Deborah Dove, a 7-year-old partially blind girl, was struck down by a hit-and-run motorist near her West Side home Thursday. She told her astonished mother Thursday night she could see far better. Eye specialists at Metropolitan General Hospital were to examine Deborah today to see if the impact somehow improved her eyesight.

Police arrested a 66 - year - old West Side man, but he denied he was the driver. Detectives were searching his car for possible clues after a witness took down the license plate of the hit-skip car. The girl suffered a broken left leg and head bruises.

Hepatitis Rise Noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Winslow J. Bashe of the Ohio Health Department says incidence of infectious hepatitis is rising so markedly that there have been 2,000 cases of the disease, also known as yellow jaundice, reported in the state this year, against 2,700 reported during all of 1960.

Goose Flesh Explained

Q. What is the medical explanation for goose flesh?

A. At the base of each hair there is a bundle of muscle fibers. An oil-secreting gland is situated between the muscle and the hair root. When we are frightened or exposed to cold, the hair muscle contracts, squeezing oil from the gland and pulling the hair upright. The muscle action puckers the hair gland so that it stands out conspicuously as in the goose (goose flesh).

Prostatic Enlargement

Q. What causes enlargement of the prostate?

A. Enlargement occurs in prostatic cancer but the gland may also enlarge in later life without evidence of cancer. This is called benign (non-cancerous) enlargement. The cause of benign enlargement is not known, but it is not believed to be related to sex habits.

Asthma And Odors

Q. Can attacks of asthma be brought on by odors?

A. Yes. An estimated 15 per cent of asthmatics are affected by odors.

Animal Infections

Q. Do dogs and cats contract human diseases?

A. Dogs and cats are resistant to most human diseases, a notable exception being the relative ease with which kittens are infected with the diphtheria germ. Dogs can acquire from man the germs which cause scarlet fever, diphtheria and tuberculosis. Cats can acquire tuberculosis from close contact with infected humans. Domestic animals are also subject to certain human viral diseases, but information about this is sketchy.

Suffering At Castro's Hands

Reports Of Mass Terror Are Seeping Out Of Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Reports of mass terror against opponents of Fidel Castro's regime are seeping out of Cuba despite a curtain of total censorship on news communications and mail.

These reports tell of suffering among thousands of detainees rounded up in the wake of the abortive anti-Castro invasion of mid-April. They tell of thousands inhumanely crowded, without food and sanitation, in detention centers; of uprisings born of desperation among the prisoners; bloodhounds and police dogs used to threaten the prisoners.

It is now confirmed that the regime has imposed complete censorship on all outgoing news messages, which must be cleared through the chief of telecommunications. Mail censorship, long in existence behind the scenes, now is out in the open. Huge piles of mail await censorship at the office of the telecommunications chief, apparently in charge of that job, too.

This is the story of what has been happening to thousands suspected of opposing the regime, as pieced together from the reports from the island:

Between 25,000 and 40,000 Cubans and foreigners, including a number of Americans, were rounded up in Havana alone after the invasion. The detainees were herded into requisitioned buildings, such as the Sports Palace and the Blanquita Theater.

At the Blanquita, there were between 6,000 and 7,500 prisoners, jammed into the auditorium, without any arrangements for food or sanitation. The only food available was that brought by relatives of persons held there.

Midway through the first week of their detention, prisoners were screaming for food, and fighting their way through a litter of filth and excrement for a chance to use the few toilets. Many became ill. At least three typhoid cases were reported.

Reports from those who saw it in person say that at one point the prisoners tried to rise up against their militia guards. Several shots were fired into the crowd. Two prisoners were wounded, but this failed to quiet the detainees.

Then bloodhounds and police dogs were paraded across the stage, and the militiamen threatened to turn the dogs on the prisoners if they failed to quiet down.

The prisoners attempted another uprising, overwhelming some militia guards and seizing their weapons. But later young Castro militiamen entered the Blanquita to serve as guards, and met no trouble. Finally, in desperation, the detainees threatened to burn the theater and everyone in it if they were not given food and some decent sanitation. Shortly afterward Castro authorities began freeing some of those under detention and taking others elsewhere.

Suffering At Castro's Hands

Reports Of Mass Terror Are Seeping Out Of Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Reports of mass terror against opponents of Fidel Castro's regime are seeping out of Cuba despite a curtain of total censorship on news communications and mail.

These reports tell of suffering among thousands of detainees rounded up in the wake of the abortive anti-Castro invasion of mid-April. They tell of thousands inhumanely crowded, without food and sanitation, in detention centers; of uprisings born of desperation among the prisoners; bloodhounds and police dogs used to threaten the prisoners.

It is now confirmed that the regime has imposed complete censorship on all outgoing news messages, which must be cleared through the chief of telecommunications. Mail censorship, long in existence behind the scenes, now is out in the open. Huge piles of mail await censorship at the office of the telecommunications chief, apparently in charge of that job, too.

This is the story of what has been happening to thousands suspected of opposing the regime, as pieced together from the reports from the island:

Between 25,000 and 40,000 Cubans and foreigners, including a number of Americans, were rounded up in Havana alone after the invasion. The detainees were herded into requisitioned buildings, such as the Sports Palace and the Blanquita Theater.

At the Blanquita, there were between 6,000 and 7,500 prisoners, jammed into the auditorium, without any arrangements for food or sanitation. The only food available was that brought by relatives of persons held there.

Midway through the first week of their detention, prisoners were screaming for food, and fighting their way through a litter of filth and excrement for a chance to use the few toilets. Many became ill. At least three typhoid cases were reported.

Reports from those who saw it in person say that at one point the prisoners tried to rise up against their militia guards. Several shots were fired into the crowd. Two prisoners were wounded, but this failed to quiet the detainees.

Then bloodhounds and police dogs were paraded across the stage, and the militiamen threatened to turn the dogs on the prisoners if they failed to quiet down.

The prisoners attempted another uprising, overwhelming some militia guards and seizing their weapons. But later young Castro militiamen entered the Blanquita to serve as guards, and met no trouble. Finally, in desperation, the detainees threatened to burn the theater and everyone in it if they were not given food and some decent sanitation. Shortly afterward Castro authorities began freeing some of those under detention and taking others elsewhere.
